GREAT BATTLE RAGES AS GERMANS DROP TROOPS IN INVASION AREA

PLANES FLY 13,000 SORTIES INVASION DAY

Allied Aircraft Take Complete Control of Air Over France.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, June 7 — Allied air forces, taking supreme command of the air over invaded France, flew well over 13,000 sorties from dawn yesterday until dawn today in support of assault forces and surged out again this morning in new attacks beyond the beachhead.

Last night more than 1,000 heavy British bombers poured a stream of explosives upon German reinforcements moving toward the fighting front. As they returned U. S. raiders headed out over Dover strait toward the small portion of France which has been recaptured.

Sun broke through rain clouds as the formations broke out, led by convoys of American Thunderbolt fighters.

Fly at Low Levels

Driven down by unfavorable weather and a determination to put their bombs where they will count most, almost all types of Allied aircraft operated at lower levels than usual. Almost total lack of opposition in the air made these tactics possible although damage from anti-aircraft fire increased considerably.

Never before had the world seen such a mighty demonstration of air power.

The measure of the almost incredibly weak opposition from the German air force was reflected in the loss of 13 British heavy bombers, one American heavy bomber and 17 Allied fighters. As resistance in the air began to increase slowly yesterday 53 enemy planes were destroyed.

The American Ninth Air Force —now probably the largest in the world and essentially a tactical unit—flew more than 4,800 sorties from dawn Tuesday to dawn today. More than 4,800 sorties were flown by heavy bombers and fighters of the Eighth U. S. Air Force.

Fighter Patrol

The Allies maintained constant fighter patrol over a 60-mile square of France, with Le Havre approximately at its northeast corner. At least 200 fighters were protecting it every minute and enemy planes which attempted to penetrate it were virtually condemned to death.

First enemy air attack on the beachhead was made by 12 JU-88's which attempted a surprise raid under low clouds. Spitfires knocked down four and the Nazis retreated without causing any damage.

In addition to blasting targets in France the night raiders penetrated into Germany to bomb Ludwigshafen, a British announcement said. The announcement declared that all planes returned safely from the overnight operations, which also included laying of mines in enemy waters.

GENERAL DEMOTED FOR D-DAY TALK

By The Associated Press

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, June 7—One of America's best known major generals was demoted to lieutenant colonel and sent home for indicating in advance the time of D-day.

The supreme command allowed this information to be cabled abroad today after holding it up several weeks for security reasons.

Supreme headquarters would not permit the officer's name to be given. He was one of the commanders of the U. S. airforce. An Army man of long standing, he was relieved of the supreme command after talking indiscreetly at a London cocktail party. The conversation was said to have taken place almost two months ago when the invasion was expected almost daily. The general was reported to have said in the presence of several persons: "On my honor the invasion will be on before June 15."

His rank was reported to have been taken by a woman guest who told Eisenhower immediately. Eisenhower immediately reduced him reduced to the permanent rank of lieutenant colonel and sent home after an investigation.

His name was not given.

Newsman Flies on Second Trip of Air Troops

By HOWARD COWAN
Associated Press Correspondent

AT A NINTH U. S. AIR FORCE TROOP CARRIER BASE, June 7—The Allied expeditionary air force had just completed another airborne landing behind enemy lines in Nazi-occupied France, but unlike the first operation, this was no "milk run."

I know. I flew in the leading ship of a group commanded by a crackerjack pilot from my home town, Lt. Col. John Neale of Shawnee, Okla.

When we came back to England the metal hide of our powerful twin-engined C-47 was messed up like a bride's first entry into a can of early June peas. The radio and electrical systems were damaged but nobody was hurt.

We were lucky. Some came home with dead and wounded aboard. Some didn't come home. The Germans were ready this time. Hundreds of planes had been in ahead of us and it seemed we flew down an avenue lined with machine-guns and fountains on both sides.

Red and green tracers overlapped in huge arcs that reminded you of an old-fashioned grape arbor. Flares from flak bursts made you jump, but they were so far off there was no noise and didn't seem to matter much—at least not like the 20-millimeter shell which sawed through the fuselage next to my window and then went off like an indoor firecracker explosion.

Scared? Yes

This may sound as if I was scared. Well, I was. It was the first time any of us had been under fire.

I had an invitation to fly on the invasion opening paratroop operation but I explained it would be pretty dark and there would not be much to see and write about. I really had thought that after a day or so it would be a little more like a sight-seeing tour.

It was that—until we reached the French coast. Our P-51 fighter escort had a whale of a time playing tag over and under, dodging in and out of our column and a formation of homeward-bound B-17s and other C-47s.

Little air-sea rescue launches were skittering about on the calm channel below just for exercise. A cloud curtain was hoisted enough along the horizon to frame the first sunset I'd seen since I left home.

But it was a different story when the Cherbourg peninsula came in sight. From a tiny island off shore came the first ack ack, but the bursts were far away.

Over German Lines

Now we were over. The door was opened and acrid smoke like that from a burning building swirled inside. I counted a dozen fires on the perimeter at this end of the allied beachhead. Occasionally there was a big flash and puffs of smoke but that was about all there was to see on the ground.

Then we got over enemy lines and the machine-guns started. We hadn't touched loose the glider yet and our speed still left something to be desired. I was on my knees peering through a window, bundled up in Mae West life preserved, parachute and flak suit.

The latter garment isn't a suit at all but a steel-ribbed canvas vest fashioned along the lines of an umpire's chest protector. Only it also takes care of your back from the collar button down to the tip of your spine. That sure leaves arms, legs and ribs feeling awful naked.

Red and green tracers—they are not as fast as in the movies—drifted up on the right at an

450 KEEP BIG FACTORY IDLE

Wright Plant Closed as Few Strike Over Transfer of Workers.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, June 7—An estimated 450 workers, described by a company official as "bonafide strikers" held the huge Wright Aeronautical Corp. plant idle for a third day today in disregard of an AAF officer's plea to "help the invason and halt this money-business."

Between 12,000 and 15,000 workers have been absent since Monday, stalling production of airplane engines and parts for a new super-engine intended for bombers as yet unreported in combat.

The strike and resultant sympathetic walkout—it was thus described by the company—resulted Monday after transfer under armed guard of seven Negro workers into a shop hitherto manned entirely by white personnel.

A company spokesman said the only bonafide strikers, "so far as we know," were in the department where the Negroes were introduced on Monday.

"The rest of those idle," he said, "are men and women who in effect say, 'well, if so-and-so is away from his job, I can't do mine either.'"

The appeal to help the invasion cause was sounded by Col. George Strong of the AAF central district procurement office in Detroit, in two speeches to

BRADLEY COMMANDS U. S. INVASION ARMY

By The Associated Press

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, June 7 — Lt. Gen. Omar Bradley is commanding the U. S. ground forces participating in the attack on Europe, it was disclosed today.

Bradley won fame in Tunisia by capturing the French naval base of Bizerte in May, 1943, with thousands of Germans while in command of the American Second Corps.

Thrifty of his men's blood but a thorough master of tactics, he is known as "The Doughboy's General."

Bradley was born in Clark, Mo., 51 years ago (Feb. 12, 1893), and was in Gen. Eisenhower's class at West Point, 1915.

Like Eisenhower's, his rise was slow at first but rapid in recent years. He was a colonel as recently at February, 1941, but had climbed to a lieutenant generalcy by June, 1943.

Slender, quiet, straight-forward, and gray, he is in such good physical condition that he has completed marches and obstacle course in which many young enlisted men fell out from fatigue.

His wife lives at West Point.

Bradley, not at all inclined to underrate the foe, has described the German soldier as "cunning and unscrupulous—somebody to be exterminated."

Naval Forces Jubilant Over Success in Landing Troops

By The Associated Press

LONDON, JUNE 7—Successful beyond all expectation in the first round of its huge invasion task, a great combined fleet of American and British naval vessels dominated the invasion routes across the English channel today, protecting the masses of men and machines rushed to support yesterday's successful landings.

British Admiral Sir Bertram Ramsay, allied commander-in-chief, declared his forces were 100 per cent successful in the convoy job against an anticipated loss of 10 per cent of the assault forces.

"We have won the first round," Ramsay said confidently. "I can see no sign that the enemy will be in a position to beat us in the second round."

He added it was "remarkable" that the allies had lost only a few combat ships.

Two U. S. Destroyers Lost

President Roosevlet announced yesterday in Washington that American losses were two destroyers and one LST (landing ship, tanks).

The flags of two United States admirals flew on two United States cruisers in the assault in which allied warships poured thousands of rounds of shells into German coastal fortifications and beat off weak enemy attempts on the sea to forestall the invasion.

Rear Admiral Alan Goodrich Kirk, commander of one of the task forces, directed part of the operation from the U. S. cruiser Augusta. Rear Admiral Morton L. Deyo was in the Tuscaloosa. The staunch old American battleship Nevada, rearmed and renovated after heavy damage at Pearl Harbor, was in the van of the big naval ships.

Among the ships engaged was the famous British light cruiser Scylla, heroine of many a sea fight, flying the flag of Rear Admiral Sir Philip Vian, who was in overall command of the task forces engaged.

Also reported in action were the American battleships Texas and Arkansas, as well as the British battleships Nelson, Ramillies and Warspite, cruisers Glasgow, Enterprise and Orion and the Canadian destroyers Sioux and Algonquin.

600 Warships in Action

Demonstrating anew the naval might of Britain and the United States, 600 ships blasted the Nazi-held shore defenses. Pounding away with everything from 16-inch rifles to 4-inchers, pouring in 2,000 tons of shells every 10 minutes to prepare the way for the landings.

As the landing forces dashed through gaps blasted in the Germans' boasted Atlantic wall, the allied ships ploughed on to shatter other defense areas along the coast.

Polish, Dutch, Norwegian, French and Greek ships joined in to make it a really allied naval show.

After the combat ships did their work the channel swarmed with landing craft of every description bearing men and all the varied equipment and munitions needed for modern warfare.

It was said officially naval casualties were "very light."

SGT. JACK LEWIS WOUNDED IN ACTION

Marion Tail Gunner Casualty in Air Over Germany.

Sgt. Martin C. "Jack" Lewis, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harley F. Lewis of 357 Brightwood drive, was wounded in an engagement over the European area on May 27, a telegram from the war department notified his parents today. No details were given in the telegram signed by General Ulio.

Sgt. Lewis is an armorer and tail-gunner on a Flying Fortress with the Eighth Air Force and has been overseas since the first week in April. He entered service in March last year, took his armament training at Buckley field near Denver and his flexible gunnery at Laredo, Texas. He completed his training at Drew field in Florida. He was graduated from Harding High school in 1940 where he was active in football and track, and attended the University of Toledo. Prior to entering service he was a storekeeper at the Marion Engineer Depot.

Sgt. Lewis was home the latter part of March and a letter from him was received May 11 by the family. He celebrated his 21st birthday Dec. 27.

Gripsholm Arrives in Jersey City Today

By The Associated Press

JERSEY CITY, N. J., June 7—Arrival of the Swedish liner Gripsholm from her fourth exchange voyage today brought to approximately 5,152 the number of repatriates returned to the United States from axis countries in this war.

Carrying 37 civilians and 88 wounded soldiers, 51 of them Americans who were prisoners in Germany, the liner docked yesterday after an uneventful trip from Belfast. She left here March 2 and completed an exchange at Barcelona.

The soldiers and all but 18 of the civilians disembarked within a few hours after the ship's arrival. The remaining passengers were to come ashore today.

NAZIS 10 MILES ABOVE ROME

Fifth Army in Hot Pursuit of Kesselring's Fleeing Troops.

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NAPLES, June 7—Fifth army infantrymen, chasing Nazi Field Marshal Albert Kesselring's fleeing army, have punched their way 10 miles north of Rome to a point only five miles short of the Lake of Bracchiano, it was announced today.

Another column has driven at least 10 miles northwest of the Italian capital after crossing the Tiber and still is forging steadily ahead behind enemy rearguards.

Patrols probing west from Rome reached points three to five miles from the sea and nearly a dozen miles north of the Tiber's mouth.

Only Spotty Resistance

Only spotty resistance was being encountered by the Fifth army forces but the Eighth army was engaged in brisk battles with strong German delaying forces in the mountainous sectors east of the capital.

New Zealand troops captured Balsorano, about six miles north of Sora, in their advance up highway 32 toward Avezzano.

The newest gains were reported after Gen. Sir Harold Alexander, Allied commander-in-chief in Italy, in a broadcast to Italian patriots, declared "in less than a month the strength of the German armies has been broken."

Alexander urged the patriots to rise against the Nazis and do all in their power to sabotage enemy communications and hinder Kesselring's efforts to disengage his troops and retire northward.

"The liberation of Italy now is well underway," the Allied commander declared.

Planes Hit Balkans

The Mediterranean Allied air force joined yesterday in the many-front assault on Hitler's Europe by sending between 500 and 750 Flying Fortresses and Liberators into the Balkans. Targets included the oil refineries at Ploesti, rail yards at Brasov and Pitesci and the "iron gate" canal at Turnu-Severin in Romania, and rail targets at Belgrade, Yugoslavia. Thirty-four enemy planes were destroyed against a loss of 16 heavy bombers and 17 other aircraft.

These air attacks from the Mediterranean came as other American bombers from the new shuttle bases in Russia were striking out against a German air field in Romania.

GLIDER AIR TRAIN 50 MILES LONG TAKES ALLIES IN

By The Associated Press

SUPREME ADVANCE COMMAND POST, ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, JUNE 7—A great battle between airborne troops flared over Cherbourg peninsula today as both the allies and the Germans dropped fighting men from the skies over a wide area in the second day of the invasion of France.

Berlin admitted beachheads had been established over more than a 50-mile stretch of the peninsula.

Waves of allied parachutists and glider troops poured down from a 50-mile long reinforcing sky train, seizing key positions and helping beat back Nazi tank-led counterthrusts, and the Nazis also dropped sky troops.

For four months the Germans have been building an airborne army for just this purpose, led by Lt.-Gen. Kurt Student who engineered the landings in Crete. RAF Mosquitos last night destroyed five Junkers-52 troop carriers.

Nazis Repulsed at Caen

Allied troops have struck inland in France in heavy fighting, repulsing Nazi counterblows near Caen nine miles from the coast, after clearing the enemy from all landing beaches and linking up some of the beachheads.

Reports from the Cherbourg peninsula invasion front showed "decided improvement" at midday, and the allies are making "considerable progress on the whole front" despite bad weather and stiffening resistance a headquarters officer said.

Headquarters said front reports showed improvement by midday after being "disappointing" early this morning.

Though the initial beachheads—which the Germans said extended over more than 50-mile stretch—have been cleared and some linked with those nearby, a few may still be under German artillery fire.

(A broadcast by the anti-Nazi Atlantic underground station in Germany, heard by NBC in New York, said today Nazi forces had given up the town of Bayeux, six miles inland on the Cherbourg peninsula and 16 miles northwest of Caen, after a night battle with the allies.)

Lt.-Gen. Omar N. Bradley is commanding U. S. ground forces participating in the attack, headquarters disclosed.

The Germans said they beat off new landing attempts near Calais, 150 miles northwest of Cherbourg, but later their reports indicated German coastal guns merely fired at allied ships in the area, and there were no indications supreme headquarters was trying to invade there.

In their 50-mile-long aerial train, three waves of U. S. Ninth air force gliders carried "a steady stream of men, equipment and supplies" to forces already fighting inland on Cherbourg peninsula, supreme headquarters said.

Bridges And Roads Seized

Airborne troops have seized bridges and roads, and joined sea-landed troops at some points, front dispatches said, and some towns have been captured.

The German high command admitted "superior forces" had established beachheads more than 40 miles apart, at the mouth of the Orne river and north of Carentan, and a DNB broadcast said American troops, steadily being reinforced, were engaged near St. Mere Eglise, between Carentan and Cherbourg near the peninsula's tip.

In the first specific report of airborne losses, the ninth air force said 12 C-47 troop carriers and 12 gliders were missing from the reinforcing operations last night and early today.

Berlin radio clearly indicated the airborne assaults were spreading great confusion behind German lines, and said the Nazis had been duped by parachuting sacks of straw loaded with explosives that blew up when they touched.

"Satisfactory progress" is being made in the historic invasion continuing under thundering blows by great sea and sky fleets, headquarters announced, and cautious officers described the tricky airborne operations as "a complete success."

Field reports said American doughboys were making "excellent progress" biting deep into France.

13,000 Sorties Flown

Great bomber fleets droned out to blast Nazi defenses and troops today, possibly in strength equalling or surpassing the stupendous total of 13,000 sorties yesterday.

Mitchell pilots reported a great ring of fires at Lisieux, south of Le Havre, and a minister glow over Caen, where Prime Minister Churchill had reported fighting in the streets. Caen is nine miles inland.

It was disclosed that more than 900 of the ninth air force's C-47 troop transports and gliders were used in the opening invasion thrust forming a train nine planes wide and 200 miles long.

Berlin dispatches to Stockholm said six allied airborne divisions totalling 25,000 men had been landed since Tuesday morning.

Headquarters still did not identify initial objectives of the American, British and Canadian infantrymen and airborne troops.

Nearly 30 hours after history's

More about invasion on Pages 3 and 7.

greatest overseas military blow had begun, the third invasion bulletin telling of the reinforcing said "satisfactory progress was made." No details of fighting areas were disclosed by the allied commander-in-chief.

LATE WAR BULLETINS

By The Associated Press

LONDON, June 7—Allied air forces have lost 70 aircraft in this theater since the invasion started, today's announcements showed. Various announcements gave this breakdown: Seventeen allied fighters, 12 American C-47 troop carriers, 12 American CG-4A gliders, 13 British heavy bombers, six American Thunderbolt fighters, four American Havocs, two American Lightning fighters, two American medium bombers, one RAF Beaufighter, one American heavy bomber.

LONDON, June 7—Berlin radio declared today a second daylight invasion attempt at Pas-De-Calais was opposed this morning by German long-range artillery. The heavily-bombed Pas-De-Calais area lies across the narrowest stretch of the channel from Dover on the English coast, and is northeast of the Cherbourg peninsula.

NEW YORK, June 7—The British information service said today that the British Sixth airborne division has captured and is holding bridges north of Caen, France.

Amazing results in building STURDY BODIES!

1—Promote the flow of vital digestive juices in the stomach

2—Energize your body with RICH, RED BLOOD!

YOUNG people, especially those of grammar and high school age, are prone to be deficient in stomach digestive juices and red-blood.

A growing person who is operating on a 65 to 70% healthy blood volume or a stomach digestive capacity of only 50 to 60% normal is severely handicapped.

In such cases Nature needs extra help. Organic troubles or focal infection, if they exist, must be corrected. Tissue foods must be present to build sturdy bodies.

S.S.S. Tonic is especially designed (1) to promote the flow of VITAL DIGESTIVE JUICES in the stomach which digest the food so the body can make proper use of it in tissue building and repair and (2) to build-up BLOOD STRENGTH when deficient.

These two important results enable the body to make use of the food as Nature intended. Thus you may gain a keen appetite . . . firm flesh . . . body energy . . . mental alertness!

President Given Edge Over Dewey in Pennsylvania

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., June 7—Although President Roosevelt carried Pennsylvania in 1940, the Keystone State looms as one of the real battlegrounds in the coming presidential elections, should Roosevelt and Dewey, most popular candidates today, be the nominees.

Pennsylvania has the second largest number of electoral votes, totaling 35. New York State, with 47, has the largest number.

An intensive statewide survey just completed in Pennsylvania by the Gallup Poll shows the President holding a slight edge in popular strength over Governor Dewey when field reporters asked a cross-section of civilian voters to name which of these two possible candidates they would choose if the election were being held today.

The results in Pennsylvania are as follows:

ROOSEVELT	52%
DEWEY	48

By way of contrast, a similar survey in New York State published two weeks ago showed Dewey in the lead, with 52 per cent of the vote to Roosevelt's 48 per cent.

Armed Services Take Two More from Postoffice

Two more stars were added to the service flag in the Marion postoffice, Homer Cole postmaster announced today, bringing the total number of employes now serving in the armed forces to seven.

John C. Key of 650 Cleveland avenue and Walter M. Minshall of 190 Chicago avenue were the last to be inducted. Key was employed in May of 1939 and Minshall came to work in December of 1931. Both are in the Navy. Before their induction, Key worked in the mailing division and Minshall was stationed at the money order window.

The others who are in service are: O. W. Weitzel, D. E. Garver, J. N. Ritzler, W. E. W. Camp and Rudolph Forry, all in the Army.

Three new appointments were announced today. They are Pearl R. Duffey of near Marion and Robert L. Peters, also of near Marion. Both were assigned as substitute carriers. Mrs. Genevieve White of 432 Forest street was given the third appointment as clerk in the mailing division, replacing John Sloan of Windsor street, who resigned to accept a job as salesman with the Borden Co. at Youngstown, O. Sloan entered the postal service on Dec. 1, 1941.

Income Tax Refund Queries Answered

In response to numerous inquiries which have come to the Marion zone office of the department of internal revenue, Alex J. Glockner, who is in charge of the Marion office at Center and Prospect streets explained procedure being used in handling refunds due some taxpayers on their 1943 income tax payments.

For the first time came the announcement that interest will be payed on refunds not returned promptly. Interest will be computed at six per cent per year from March 15, 1944, to the date that the refund is paid.

It has been estimated that nearly 18,000,000 taxpayers have refunds coming to them. By June 1, 1,000,000 checks had been mailed. Mr. Glockner explained that the process is now being accelerated. The task is such a huge one that it is bound to take several months and no preference can be given to individual cases. If taxpayers expecting refunds have moved since paying their 1943 tax they should send a notice of the change, giving both old and new addresses to the office of the collector of internal revenue at Columbus. No claim is necessary to obtain the refund, Mr. Glockner said.

They left their meal and went to the headquarters room where Capt. Joseph Aprile said: "Let's get ready for tonight." All went about their appointed tasks.

Lt. Mildred Land of Canton, O., looked up from her sweeping and said: "Next stop some place in France."

The third new three-cent stamp to be issued since May 10 is now on sale at the Marion postoffice. The first of this new series commemorated the 75th anniversary of completion of the transcontinental railroad. The second celebrated the 125th anniversary of the first steamship to cross the Atlantic and the last, which went on sale May 24, commemorates the 100th anniversary of the invention of the telegraph. All three are purple, the first two a darkish shade but the telegraph stamp is a light lavendar. The words of the first message ever telegraphed, "What hath God wrought," is printed across the face of the stamp.

These three are the first new issues to be placed on sale since last December, with the exception of the new 8-cent airmail issued when the new airmail rate went into effect.

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

Editor of The Star: It is regretful that we have to take up personal feelings for our dead heroes, when we hold memorial services for a group. Neither race, creed nor denomination nor wet nor dry is the topic for discussion—but to pray for Almighty to rest their souls.

I don't doubt that those about whom letters have been written want to come back to see Marion the model city; so do the other 8,000 strong who are in uniform from Marion county fighting for one cause—"Democracy." What is Democracy? Look it up in the dictionary.

The liquor dealers are in an industry that is legal, just like the doctor who has to have his M. D. degree before he practices and just like those who must have degrees to preach.

The liquor industry has done more than any other industry to shorten the war. All the vital materials for warfare are manufactured from the process of alcohol and since Oct. 9, 1942, all the production from the distillers is going to the government for armaments and rubber.

The liquor dealers do not stand on the streets with guns in their hands forcing the public to drink; rather they discourage it. If you watch their doors you will notice their emblem with the inscription, "Drink Moderately," and if you walk inside you will see signs such as, "If you want to indulge, don't overdo it." "Be right, drink light." "The right to drink is ours and we should never lose it, so long as you and I are wise and don't abuse it."

I was always under the impression that the Reverends are paid to preach sermons from the Bible, not to discriminate certain types of business.

The Marion County Liquor Dealers association has done its share as a group in donations to the War Chest drives, Red Cross, and USO.

The members bought in Marion county $48,000 Third War Loan Bonds, $86,000 Fourth War Loan Bonds and for the Fifth War Loan drive pledged $100,000.

So let us learn and preach the Bible.

Let us all work together for quick victory. Let us all buy War Bonds.

ROTARIANS HEAR TALK BY CHINESE SPEAKER

Dr. M. H. Li Points to Path of U. S.-Asiatic Understanding.

The contributions of China to the philosophical and spiritual development of the world were emphasized by Dr. M. H. Li of Oberlin in a talk to the Rotary club Tuesday noon at the Hotel Harding. Dr. Li, who is an official representative of the Chinese government, pointed out that the entire Pacific area which is peopled by descendants of the Chinese, can become a bulwark of democracy.

He stated that United States, in order to regain the confidence of the Asiatics, must give up many extra territorial rights. Trade barriers must also be removed and quinine and other medical supplies made accessible to the disease-infested Pacific islands. The repeal of the Chinese exclusion law last year by this country was definitely a step toward regaining China's confidence, according to Dr. Li. However it was only one step and the country must be accepted progressively and judged by her own standards before complete harmony can be obtained.

Guests at yesterday's meeting were Charles Kirk of Findlay, Charles Pierson of Toledo, William Doody of Cleveland, Day Hurst of Camp Claiborne, La., and E. J. Schoeniaub.

Have a Coca-Cola = Come on over

...or keeping youth happy at home

Keeping young folks happy at home is mostly a matter of having a house in which they and their friends feel welcome. So don't forget Coca-Cola . . . it's always a big attraction for the young crowd. It says better than words, Come on over to our house . . . we're glad to see you. Be sure there's "Coke" in your icebox. There's no more cordial invitation, nor one more refreshing, than the three simple words . . . Have a "Coke".

Coca-Cola — the global high-sign

It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called "Coke".

Board Hears a New One: Color Blindness

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—The Monroe county rationing board thought it had heard everything, but an apologetic man turned up recently with a brand new reason why his family's five ration books should be replaced.

The man said his family had so much canned goods on hand that he tore out all the blue stamps in all five books because he figured they weren't needed. But, in his colorblindness, he also tore out all the red stamps. So, proving him truthful by means of a test, the board gave the man his five new books—with proper extractions, of course.

HEALTH QUIZ

	YES	NO
Do you have poor digestion?	☐	☐
Do you feel headachy after eating?	☐	☐
Do you get sour or upset easily?	☐	☐
Do you feel tired—listless?	☐	☐

Now everyone knows that to get the good out of the food you eat—you must digest it properly. But what most people don't know is that Nature must produce about two pints of the digestive juice—liver bile—each day to help digest your food. If Nature fails, your food may remain undigested, lie sour and heavy within you.

Thus, it is simple to see that one way to aid digestion is to increase the flow of liver bile. Now, Carter's Little Liver Pills start to increase this flow quickly for thousands—often in as little as thirty minutes. When bile flow increases, your digestion may improve. And, soon you're on the road to feeling better—which is what you're after.

Don't depend on artificial aids to counteract indigestion—when Carter's, taken as directed, aid digestion after Nature's own order. Get Carter's Little Liver Pills today—only 25c. You'll be glad you did.

Redistricting Eliminates Two of County's 1-Room Schools

Lawrence and Reber To Close, Campbell Only One Remaining; Change Approved by State Superintendent.

Plans for the redistricting of two of the county's three one-room school districts, submitted to the patrons of the districts through personal calls and legal advertisements, by the Marion county board of education, have been approved by Kenneth C. Ray, state superintendent of public instruction, and a copy of the resolutions adopted by the board of education, and maps of the territory involved filed in the office of the county auditor by D. T. Mills, superintendent of county schools and clerk of the board. Completion of the work of transferring the schools was effected at a recent meeting of the county board.

The plans, which were approved by the state superintendent without any modification, provide for closing of the Lawrence school on Harding Highway E. and the Reber school north of the city. The plans did not include any provision for probable tenants of the Scioto Ordnance Plant area, which is owned by the government. When school opens next September the Campbell school west of Marion will be the only one-room school in operation in the county.

Transfers Made

Twenty-four grade pupils from the Lawrence school and 21 from Reber school were transfered to other schools under the new law. All territory considered the Reber one-room school district has been transferred to the Morral village school district. The territory is bounded on the north by the present Morral school district and the Grand Prairie Rural school district on the east by the Grand Prairie rural school district, on the west by the Meeker rural school district and the Green Camp village school and on the south by Green Camp, Big Island and Marion townships and the Marion City school district. Pupils of the Lawrence school have been transferred to Claridon school with the exception of those living on state route 95, East, who will retain their present school status, and patrons whose properties border on the east side of Madison avenue were transferred to the Marion City school district.

Provision for Pupils

Children affected by the redistricting range from the first to the eighth grades. Both schools are in Marion township. Eleventh and Twelfth grade pupils now enrolled in high school will complete their school work in the school in which they are enrolled without any cost in the way of tuition to the student.

Children of school age residing in the Scioto Ordnance area will in all likelihood follow the established practice of attending the school most convenient to their home. Last year the U. S. Rubber Co. provided transportation to the city schools and pupils living on R. 98 attended the Kirkpatrick and Caledonia school. The number of pupils in the area varied during the last one and one-half years, the highest being 25. The board of education agreed to recognize the former school boundaries, the patrons in the former Kirkpatrick district being served by that school and those in the former Grand Prairie district by Grand Prairie and Caledonia schools.

Reasons for Change

The move to close the one-room schools was brought about primarily through a feeling on the part of many of the school patrons that pupils can be better served in school units having a broader school program and more adequate facilities and due to the shortage of teachers, Mr. Mills states.

Territorial changes may be made only every two years and the present adopted plan will be in effect until 1946, unless an emergency necessitates other changes. Steps to make the transfer were taken after patrons had indicated, through the signing of petitions and in verbal statements to the county board, a desire to make the change.

Discontinuance of the two schools necessitates a change in the township board of education with the result that two members of the township board, L. H. Pace and Lorin Lawrence, automatically give up their positions on the board. Disposition of the school property has not been decided.

LEAVES NEARLY MILLION
By The Associated Press

BOWLING GREEN, O., June 7—The late Clement O. Miniger, Toledo industrialist, left $927,500 to relatives, friends, charity and various institutions, it was revealed yesterday when his will was filed in probate court. The Fostoria Y.M.C.A. and First Presbyterian church received $5,000 each.

CONSTIPATION GONE WRITES INVENTOR!

"4 years' use convinces me nothing helps like KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN"

This true incident may bring new hope to constipation sufferers. Read this unsolicited letter!

"Some of my friends were talking about a laxative ad in the Post. I'm cutting and insisted there's nothing like ALL-BRAN—and told them how it has helped keep me out of a condition I was in 4 years ago. Then they told me the ad they were discussing was an ALL-BRAN ad—they told me I should have a medal for spreading the good news about ALL-BRAN—which had helped these friends too."—W. J. McLaughlin, 605 2nd No. St., Camden, N. J.

Scientists say KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN can really "get at" a common cause of constipation—lack of sufficient "cellulosic" elements in the diet—because it is one of Nature's most effective sources of these elements. They work by helping the friendly colonic flora to fluff up and prepare the colonic wastes for easy, natural elimination. KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is not a purgative medicine — but a wholesome, gentle-acting, "regulating" food.

If you have constipation of this type, eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN or several ALL-BRAN muffins regularly. Drink plenty of water. See if you don't cheer its welcome relief. Insist on genuine ALL-BRAN, made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

I know I've been an awful grouch not taking you any place lately. But after standing all day at my new job, my feet darn near killed me with callouses and burning. Now I've reformed—or rather my feet have—thanks to the Ice-Mint you advised. Never tried anything that seemed to draw the pain and fire right out so fast—and the way it helps soften callouses is nobody's business! Been able to get some extra overtime money—so what do you say, let's go dancing tonight. You can step on my Ice-Mint feet all you want.

Factory Employes Join in 2-Minute Invasion Prayer

Employes of the Universal Cooler Corp. stood silent for two minutes their heads bowed in prayer for the fighting men taking part in the invasion of Europe, at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning. The whir of machinery stopped and all was silent throughout the factory during the brief, impressive service.

The prayer period was suggested by Local 750, U. A. W. C.I.O. and when presented to the management by Victor D. Ward, president of the union, and G. C. McGrath, vice president, was quickly approved and arranged. The workers stood at their usual places of work during the service.

Future Marion Tar Lends Helping Hand To Spar

A 14-year-old Marion boy who gave a Spar a helping hand last week has a chocolate soda treat waiting on him, if he will make himself known to her when she returns to Marion Thursday.

The Spar is Dorothy A. Reynard, yeoman third class in the women's reserve of the U. S. Coast Guard, who was here last week to make plans for weekly visits to Marion to enlist women in the Spars. She will be in Marion each Thursday from 10 a. m. to 7 p. m. at the Chamber of Commerce offices to interview interested applicants.

In a letter to The Star, Yeoman Reynard wrote that the Marion youth came to her assistance when she was about to leave Marion after making arrangemenes for her weekly visits here. Hot, tired and anxious to get to the bus station on time, she was lugging her suitcase along the sidewalk when the youth approached her, took over the suitcase and explained that he intended to join the Coast Guard some day, and regarded carrying her luggage as his first opportunity to serve that branch of the service.

In writing her tribute to "a future Tar from a present Spar," Yeoman Reynard said she would like to learn his name so she could thank him again—and maybe take him to the nearest soda fountain.

Shelve Regular Programs for Radio News of War

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 7—Wherever there is a radio set, America is tuning in on the invasion. Ordinary programs are secondary. It will continue that way as long as developments go at high pitch.

From the first news "break" in the opening hour of eventful June 6, the networks went into their planned invasion schedule. That gave precedence to press association dispatches, to pickups from overseas and to commentators at home and abroad.

The first day and night of the attack brought broadcast messages from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, King Haakon of Norway, King George of Great Britain, President Roosevelt, the prime ministers of The Netherlands and Belgium, and others, including Mrs. Roosevelt.

All regularly listed shows were put on a time available basis. Thus, sponsored and other day-to-day broadcasts became subject to interruption or even cancellation. The networks returned to the 24-hour day they had adopted in earlier days of the war.

Monday through Wednesday, with arrangements for similar schedule on Thursday should the convention continue into that day. The length of each broadcast will depend on developments.

BATTLE FOR EUROPE

THE armies now joining the final issue of the battle for Europe are certain of victory. They have made a good start. Ultimate victory is as certain as anything in war can be. Preparation is the key to the Allied plan.

The worst that can happen is prolonged German resistance. But Allied manpower, equipment, control of the air and sea guarantee ultimate victory. Sooner or later, preparation will tell. The Germans have no hope of victory. They can hope only for a stalemate.

They move into the last stage of their lost war with the lesson of two lost campaigns fresh in their minds. Apparent stalemate in Russia and Italy were broken by the same Allied superiority that now assures ultimate success in western Europe.

Of the three prime military factors, Germany is conspicuously weak in two. It cannot challenge Allied naval strength, and it cannot control the air. Its ground forces are still formidable, but they are widely dispersed and growing progressively weaker. The potential strength of the Allies, when it is attained, will be overwhelming.

The problem, now that the spearhead of attack have been thrust forward, is the attainment of Allied potential strength. Once the full weight of material and manpower can be brought to bear, Germany's doom is sealed. Germany must yield then to the strength of the military alliance it created by its challenge to the separate members of the alliance when they were weak.

It may be said with assurance, now that the first landings have been made, that the outcome of the war already is determined. The contestants are playing out the string. The ultimate decision was determined, many believe, at Stalingrad. It was foreshadowed when Germany could not conquer Britain. It was confirmed in the Italian peninsula.

The first stages of invasion have been managed well, testimony to the excellence of the staff planning and troop training which has been in progress in England for so many months. We are paying and will continue to pay the heavy price which Germany can exact for its advantage of position. But when we have attained position, Germany must pay the price for our advantage of manpower and equipment.

The advantage will be widened by the assistance forthcoming from Europe's captive populations, now given tangible proof that liberation is more than a wishful thought. "Keep your faith staunch—our arms are resolute—together we shall achieve victory," Gen. Eisenhower has told the Europeans.

There has been no single moment in history when so many men of like mind were united in common purpose. There never has been any single project on which so much resolution was brought to focus simultaneously. The great battles of the past either took place under circumstances which obscured their importance at the time, or if their importance was realized it could not be conveyed simultaneously to the populations with a stake in the outcome.

Historians will make note of the mood in which this unprecedented endeavor is undertaken. There is no celebration, no exultation. This is not conquest, but the duty to resist conquest. It is not militarism, but determination to punish militarists. Today it is Germany feeling the heaviest weight of our blows; tomorrow it will be Japan.

We mourn the cost in life and treasure to ourselves and our enemy. But we believe that sacrifice now will save lives and the dignity of living, later. That, too, is a source of confidence—the certainty that we fight for the right and the ability to see that our enemies are wrong, however well they may rationalize their wrong decisions.

There is relatively little that we can do here at home—the issue now is in the capable hands of our fighting men. But we can perform our small services faithfully, to the best of our ability. While our men are doing so much we whom they fight for can do no less than our duties—we can work a little harder, have a little more faith and a little more forebearance.

News Behind the News

Democratic Political Pepsilion in Texas Seen as Smart Jockeying by Both Sides.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, June 7.—The [illegible] Communists" and even [illegible] if there are any, [illegible] the Democratic [illegible] political [illegible] in Texas, South Carolina, and elsewhere.

Great moral issues are being [illegible] on that view. But [illegible] the issues are not [illegible] those [illegible] are away from [illegible] into [illegible] political [illegible].

The delegation [illegible] Texas delegation beyond Mr. Roosevelt's reach [illegible] at the moment, at any rate—is attributed in the inside [illegible] to Chief Senator Peppy O'Daniel.

As the story is told, he went into the [illegible] before the Democratic convention [illegible] weeks in advance, with the idea of how to handle the situation.

When the New Deal's leading Texas representative, Lyndon [illegible] arrived, it was apparently [illegible] Johnson [illegible] it until [illegible] and cut in the [illegible] convention floor—[illegible] delegation to Mr. [illegible] to be instructed [illegible] not to slip, but [illegible] unless certain [illegible] done.

Blame Jones

The New Dealers were quite busy and have been circulating stories that it was Jesse Jones, the commerce secretary, who failed to note the rebellion in time to head it. They are always glad to hurl stones at Jones, even the left-over ones thrown at themselves.

In any event, it would be too much to surmise what the Texas delegation is going to do about Mr. Roosevelt with you see what the convention does about the Texas delegation and its viewpoint. The jockeying does not violate sharp political custom and does not ordinarily lead to either Fascism or Communism.

So also in South Carolina, where the prevailing Democratic authorities decided (in a different way) to hold back what electorial or other power they have as long as possible, and keep it away from Mr. Roosevelt, until they see what Mr. Roosevelt does about their matters. Such tactics have as often led to harmony in the end as to discord.

Smith Has 5 Opponents

Consequently, the furore now sweeping up on the news about the situation may not necessarily prove painful except perhaps for one person. South Carolina's Senator "Cotton Ed" Smith, who considered himself "roped in" at the Philadelphia convention eight years ago and has advocated "withholding tactics—uninstructed delegation, or since, got bad news, on Friday.

He has [illegible] any [illegible] opposition, but [illegible] the Friday filing date [illegible] several fine opponents. Leaving out Governor Olin Johnston, a Roosevelt man, beaten by Byrnes in last year's Johnston-Byrnes contest, who did not intend to run, but someone apparently talked him into reluctance fast, Speech [illegible] Mr. Roosevelt [illegible] PAC turned recently at the Byrnes plantation there.

Conversion Trouble

The bunching of the first basic conversion to peacetime, or [illegible] soon looks like it was handled by some politicos who handled Texas for Mr. Roosevelt. Now that all the flying facts about the Brewster Aeronautical Corporation case have settled down, that inexplicable failure of the government seems to find this following sound foundation:

The Navy never loved the plant, probably had more trouble with it than any other. A congressional committee seeking to find out why it did not produce, more than a year ago discovered loafing as a primary cause, as well as poor management. The Kaiser people were brought in, and production was better, but the cost per plane was much too high.

When the Navy wanted to cut plane production, it started with that plant, but failed to consult the war manpower commission, Economic Stabilizer Byrnes, or anyone else. Thereupon, the CIO people at the plant came in here, made the government step and Byrnes now promises the workers will be cared for one way or another.

Baruch Report Forgotten

Completely forgotten or unnoticed was the Baruch report for business conversion which was hailed as a great thing some months back when Byrnes was appointed to handle just such a situation.

Congress is taking the beatings in publicity on taxes, but it saved Mr. Roosevelt from permanent neuralgia on that last bill, which it passed over his veto.

The treasury had proposed 30 per cent excise taxes on many things, including theater admissions, so-called amusement and luxury articles. Congress cut these generally to 20 per cent or less, leaving only the cabaret tax at 30 per cent. Everyone forgot what the treasury recommended, recalled only that congress had passed such a tax.

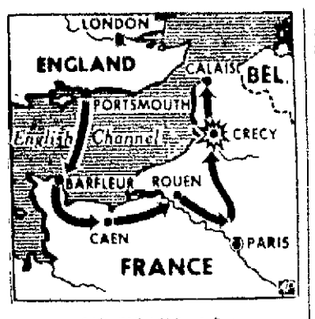
Invasion—Old Style

English Went Into France, Held Beach 200 Years.



600 YEARS AGO

ENGLAND invaded France across the channel in 1346 and seized a beachhead at Calais that endured for 200 years.

In the Hundred Years War, Edward III of England, aspiring to the French throne, loaded up an invasion force at Portsmouth and shoved off for the coast of Normandy.

Today, a successful amphibious operation requires control of the air. In those days of military innocence, control of the sea was enough and Edward secured that by smashing the French fleet in 1340.

And Edward too had a secret weapon as he and his army swarmed up the beaches at Barfleur.

He had no reason to use it then, however, for the French offered little resistance as he marched on to Rouen and thence down toward Paris.

Hauling up before Paris, Edward figured his lines were too thinly stretched, turned boldly and marched north toward Calais.

At Crecy he found the French army at last blocking his path, and the English unlimbered the "secret weapon." It was the massed fire of Edward's trained archers, who shot into the charging French cavalry with fearful execution. The back of the French army was broken there and Edward swept on to Calais.

The tide of English conquest rolled high in that protracted war, and once lapped over the northern half of France. But at last the French found a secret weapon of their own — artillery firing round shot that slaughtered the bowmen of Britain.

The invader was routed from most of France and the Hundred Years War ended in 1453. But that firm beachhead at Calais lasted for another hundred years.

War and Poetry

More than 20,000 copies of the poems of Rupert Brooke have been sold during the last year. After Brooks, the leaders are Tennyson, Shelley, Keats, Browning and the moderns. French and Indian poetry also rate high.

Milkweed Goes to War

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK—The lowly milkweed, scourge of ranchers and farmers, is going to war as a substitute for scarce kapoc in life preservers, according to the war food administration.

The U. S. department of agriculture in conjunction with other government agencies is preparing to collect seed pods for the milkweed floss in 26 states. While New York and New England will contribute some, most of the floss will probably be collected in the southwestern states, the WFA said.

Have a Bite of Shark?

By The Associated Press

CHARLESTON, S. C.—Native prejudice and superstition to the contrary, shark meat is edible, tasty—in fact a table delicacy, reports the state board of fisheries.

Shark meat, when kippered or lightly smoked, resembles salmon and fresh shark steaks are sometimes compared to halibut, the board says.

Mussels and eels, plentiful along the Carolina coast but seldom used for food, are getting more attention from commercial fishers. The mussel has been found to have a flavor like the "long-necked or soft clam," the board reports.

Canine Marines Back

By The Associated Press

CAMP LEJEUNE, N. C.—Seven heroic Marine dogs, suffering from shell shock and war neuroses, have been returned from Bougainville for a rest cure at Camp LeJeune.

The canine veterans, first of any war dogs to be returned to the states, are not without honor. Otto, wounded by a Japanese sniper, bears a citation similar to the Purple Heart. Ruff is the mother of nine puppies, eight of which remained in the Solomons as Marine mascots.

They will be treated and after recovery may be sent back to battle areas. Those unfitted for further service will be given honorable discharges.

The Glory That Was Rome

Ancient City Changes Hands Again.

WHATEVER may happen to Rome now can be only a repetition of something that has happened before. From ancient down to modern times, the city has been besieged, captured, recaptured, despoiled, devastated and spared.

Once the world's largest city, its population fell at one time in the 14th century to a meager 20,000—when the Popes went to reside in Avignon. At the outbreak of the present war, its population was 1,350,000.

First authentic Roman date is 390 B. C., when the city was captured and destroyed by Gauls. The defeat of Carthage gave Spain to the Romans and made their capital the strongest Mediterranean power. Later, Roman influence swept over France, Greece and Asia Minor.

Shortly after the republic gave way to the empire in 31 B. C., the Mediterranean literally became a Roman lake. Rome's far-flung dominions included England, Belgium, Holland, the Balkan peninsula, Mesopotamia, Palestine, Egypt and North Africa.

Emperor Constantine (324-337) made Christianity the official Roman religion and removed the empire's capital to Constantinople. Rome remained the religious center of Christendom. By the end of the fourth century, the empire was divided into an eastern and western empire, and the western section became progressively weaker. Rome was sacked by the Goths in 410, by the Vandals in 445 and before the end of the fifth century a German had made himself king of Italy and put an end to the western empire.

THEN Rome fell under the rules of the Ostrogoths. It was taken and retaken half a dozen times in wars between the Goths and the Byzantines. With the rise of the Holy Roman empire, Rome was at times ruled by the emperors, at times by the Popes. During the Papal residence in France, Rome was ruled by great families, like the other city-states of Italy. At other times during the medieval period, Rome was a duchy in its own right, and at still other times a republic. It was sacked again in 1527, by an army of the Holy Roman empire.

After the medieval period, Rome lay within the temporal empire of the Papacy. Late in the 18th century, under the influence of the French revolution, a short-lived republic was established. Napoleon took Rome in 1809, when he seized the Papal states in central Italy. It was restored to the Papacy in 1814.

A revolution in 1848 drove the Pope out of Rome and set up a republic again. Garibaldi defended the city vigorously against the Neapolitan and French forces sent to regain the city for the Pope, and Rome surrendered only after a bitter siege. Rome was taken from Papal sovereignty by an all-Italian army in 1870, after a five-hours' attack, and was made the capital of an united Italy.

Paraphrasing the Joseph Ashby-Sherry poem:

Draw back the cradle curtains, Kate,
While watch and ward you're keeping,
Let's see the monarchs in their state
And view them while they're sleeping.

Each smiles and twists a tiny hand
While sunbeams shine above them;
They do not know or understand
How much the banks will love them.

Monarchs of pearly powder-puff
Asleep in nests so cozy,
They'll never need things "on the cuff"—
Their standing will be rosy.
They slumber soundly in each bed—
How sweetly each relaxes;
For they will not be "in the red,"
If they have luck with taxes.

Ah, lucky tyrants! Happy lot!
Fair watchers without number
Shall sweetly smile beside each cot
As fancy figures rhumba.
The world shall keep a loving mood
And with each week grow prouder
As you indorse a breakfast food,
Pill, ointment, oil or powder.

The ad men they shall cherish you
And Hollywood come wooing
With money tied with ribbons blue
And cries of "How're we doing?"
Oh, rosy, dimpled darlings all
So petal-pink and sunny,
No need for you to cry or bawl,
For, kids, you're in the money!

They Call It Progress

By Truman Twill

Sympathy is extended to the residents of Mexico City, whose lunch period has been cut from two hours to 30 minutes as a war measure.

The boys and the girls might just as well say that extra hour and a half goodbye forever. They lay in a box of bicarbonate of soda. Efficiency has wedged its toe in the door and step by step will give Mexicans a belly ache that will make them wonder why they were born.

It's only a scorched hamburger and a cup of bad coffee from where they are now to a ham sandwich and a hard-boiled egg gulped on the run. If they think the old eat-and-run play is going to make them like the gringoes, they might as well realize the gringoes would rather be like the Mexicans.

The quick lunch is efficient, all right. It makes the milk of magnesia people beam with joy. If given a fair shake, 30 minutes for lunch will give the interests who concoct purgatives and sedatives to soothe butterflies on the stomach the time of their lives.

Eventually, Mexicans can climb on the bandwagon of progress and swap notes on the [illegible] tric symptoms, sure-fire sign they are burning the candle at both ends. If everything works out all right, they can work themselves up to that painfully beautiful bloom of efficiency, a gastric ulcer.

This will give the Mexican X-ray industry a boost it has been waiting for. It will give Mexico a reason to build more hospitals. The medical profession will grow by leaps and bounds. There won't be any more dozing in the noon heat when Mexico gets into the swing of hyperacidity. The Mexicans will be too busy counting their midriffs.

With the siesta eliminated, our good neighbor will have lots more time to wear himself down to a nubbin and pave the way for nervous breakdowns. They will need mental institutions and psychiatrists to humor the [illegible] mates. There will be a boom in everything from hypodermic needles to strait-jackets.

This is Progress with a capital Phooey. Even if it's what Mexico wants, that's Mexican business. It just so happens that north of the border it looks like a whale of a price to pay. Maybe the natives couldn't take two hours more to go home at noon and cork off on the davenport, but why cut down the lunch hour to 30 minutes on that account? Take it from those who know, amigos, you have thrown the baby with the bath, the pickle with the pickle juice, the banana with the skin. Your descendants will curse you for the day that efficiency foisted off on them in the form of a war measure.

PIN-WORMS

Now can be Beaten!

The miseries of Pin-Worms have been known for centuries, and many doctors have sought a way to deal with this dreadful pest that lives and grows inside the human body.

Today, thanks to an important scientific discovery, a new and highly effective treatment is being hailed by medical authorities. It is based on a remarkable drug known as gentian violet. This drug is the vital element in P-W, the new Pin-Worm tablet developed by the laboratories of Dr. D. ... & Son, America's leading specialists in worm medicines.

P-W makes it unnecessary for you or your child to suffer in silence with the embarrassing rectal itch caused by Pin-Worms, or to take chances on the real distress they often create. The small, easy-to-take P-W tablets act in a special way to destroy Pin-Worms.

So watch for possible warning signs such as: itching seat and nose, uneasy stomach, bed-wetting, nervous fidgeting. If you suspect Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for a package of P-W and follow the simple directions carefully.

It is easy to remember: P-W for Pin-Worms!

Strongest Test . . of Atlantic Wall . Ahead of Allies

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Hitler's undoubtedly powerful Atlantic wall, behind which he has strutted and threatened, has been broken at one of its strongest points.

The landings which were begun on the Cherbourg peninsula of Normandy in yesterday's stormy dawn have been continued. Commander in Chief Eisenhower's headquarters tell us that "satisfactory progress has been made."

That's an amazing feat and gratifying far beyond anticipation, but we must remember that this is only the beginning. We don't even know that this is intended as the major assault or that the main thrust won't come somewhere else. What we do know, and it's important, is this:

The all-out German counter-attacks are still to come.

Under normal circumstances a concerted Nazi local counter-attack wouldn't be mounted before today. It might be several days before reserves were brought up for a full scale assault.

Coastline Thinly Held

Remember that the coast-line is thinly held by the Germans, and that Hitler's reservoir of reserves is far back of the coastal defenses. He has it strategically situated for quick movement in any direction.

He isn't going to risk flinging an army at any invasion threat until he is sure that it is the main enemy landing—or at least one of them. If he rushed a big force to Normandy the first thing, and the Allies then aimed a lightning blow at another distant point, he would be in a welter of trouble.

As a matter of fact, one would expect the Allies to pursue just such tactics. This doesn't mean that the Normandy invasion isn't the main one. Time alone will tell us that. I should say much depends on how things go there. If they progress swimmingly, the Allies presumably will develop this landing to the full.

The Cherbourg peninsula is an ideal invasion base. There we have not only one of the finest ports in the world, but a railway direct to Paris, and a terrain suitable for air fields and easy movement of troops and equipment.

However, even if Normandy represents the main thrust, Hitler certainly is expecting other landings—probably several of them. The purpose of this diversity would be to keep the Germans off balance all the time in the matter of where to send their reserves for defense.

Compelled to Divide Forces

Also, obviously we weaken the enemy by compelling him to divide his forces. The Hitlerites may have three quarters of a million men in France, but that's too few if they have to defend both the Atlantic and the Mediterranean coastlines.

Where will other Allied attacks, if any, be made? Well, there are a lot of likely spots north of Normandy and closer to our main base—England. They're heavily fortified and mighty tough, but any one of them would produce a jack-pot if we were lucky.

We have the naval and air power to enable Eisenhower to play game about the way he likes. He may make several attacks which are intended merely as divertive. However, unexpected success at any point might mean quick development of the landing into an integral part of the general assault.

One likely looking spot is in the Rhone valley of southern France, on the Mediterranean. There's a big French army eagerly waiting for action, and if it were thrown in there it certainly would raise hob with the Nazis by forcing them to defend a front so far separated from northern France. It's worth watching.

For the moment, let's temper our enthusiasm with caution.

Central Ohio Towns Pause for Invasion

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, June 7—Bucyrus received the invasion news Tuesday calmly and with little outward demonstration.

Downtown Bucyrus displayed the colors from the front of each business house and several churches offered special services of prayer. At Holy Trinity Catholic church at the early morning Mass protection was asked for our fighters and at a prayer service at First Presbyterian church in an evening service, citizens of all denominations were in attendance.

UPPER SANDUSKY, June 7—The local churches were open Tuesday at 8 p. m. for individual D-day prayer services.

At St. Peter's Catholic church, special prayers were offered at early services Tuesday, and the church was open all day for worshippers to enter for prayer. The church bell also rang at hourly intervals.

KENTON, O., June 7—Thousands of Hardin county citizens last night trooped into churches of the district, at call of the county ministerial association, to offer silent prayer for safety of loved ones in the invasion of armed Europe, and to hear solemn messages of hope and faith. Church bells pealed forth the invitation to prayer.

INFANTRYMAN HAS IT TOUGH, STIMSON SAYS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 7—Emphasizing the great and dangerous task of American soldiers driving into western Europe, Secretary of War Stimson told Congress today that when it comes to casualties, the infantry suffers most.

He reported that in the North African theater, including the hard-fought Italian campaign, the infantry represented only 19.8 per cent of the total strength, but suffered 70 per cent of the casualties.

Stimson gave the figures in a letter to House Speaker Rayburn (D-Texas) asking legislation for increased pay to specially skilled infantrymen.

Stimson urged action to provide a $5 a month salary boost for doughboys holding the expert infantryman's badge and $10 a month for those with the combat infantryman's badge.

Cost of the increase would total approximately $55,000,000 to $71,000,000 yearly, he said.

milling workers on company grounds this morning.

One man was suspended after officials reported he "hecklingly argued" with Colonel Strong at the conclusion of one of his appeals.

The idle thousands for the most part listened in silence to the appeal.

The Wright spokesman said heckling within the plant was directed mainly to shop employes who indicated willingness to comply with the appeal and returned momentarily to their machines.

A majority of 3,000 graveyard shift employes completed their accustomed tour of duty in compliance with earlier appeals by Colonel Strong and F. L. Innis of Columbus, sub-regional director of the United Automobile Workers (CIO).

Both the company and the union said the strike was unauthorized and the two speakers urged the workers back to their jobs by appealing to their patriotism and pointing to the importance of airplane engine production at this time.

Robert Spitzmiller, president of the UAW local, telegraphed shop stewards to instruct workers to return to their posts.

Company officials reported the assembly line, which turns out finished engines for final inspection was "stalled completely" by the strike while operations in other parts of the plant were proceeding at varying paces.

CANTON, O., June 7 — Nearly 1,000 CIO-United Steelworkers of America at the Timken Roller Bearing Co. continued today a D-day strike which a department of labor conciliator said had been referred to the regional war labor board for settlement.

J. A. Moran reported that after separate meetings with company officials and unionists in the grinding department he had sought WLB aid.

The CIO recently stated the company was filing to keep the men busy and that employes were "getting tired of having nothing to do." A company spokesman blamed the idleness on absenteeism. The dispute began last Friday over seniority issues, the company declared.

Dancer Testifies in Officer's Trial

By The Associated Press

SANTA ANA, Calif., June 7—Through testimony of Caprice Capron, 17, nightclub dancer, the government endeavored today to establish that Army Capt. Morrison J. Wilkinson of Washington, D. C., committed an act of statutory rape against her last April 20.

A witness in the court martial trial of the 28-year-old one-time flight leader attached to the American volunteer group in China, the titian-haired dancer has charged that Wilkinson beat her and forced her into an unnatural sex act.

He is being tried on specifications ranging from bigamy, forcible rape and lewd and lascivious conduct toward women, to theft of jewelry from Mrs. Margaret Gonzales Wilkinson. Her divorce from him was not final, the government alleges, when he married Lawriene T. Murphy, of Phoeniz, Ariz.

Wilkinson pleaded innocent on all charges.

American Fighters Carry Roosevelt Prayer Into Battle

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 7 — American fighting men today carried with them into the assault on Europe, a prayer to God for strength, for the ultimate conquest of "apostles of greed and racial arrogancies," and for the "freedom of suffering humanity."

President Roosevelt by radio last night led America in the supplication, asking those at home to join with him "in this poignant hour."

Speaking slowly, distinctly and solemnly—he refused to permit the usual photographs to be taken at the broadcast—he offered a prayer for "us at home—fathers, mothers, children, wives, sisters and brothers of brave men overseas."

"Help us, Almighty God," he asked, "to rededicate ourselves in renewed faith in thee in this hour of great sacrifice."

Mr. Roosevelt commented that when he had addressed the nation Monday night on the fall of Rome, he had known of the invasion plans.

"I knew at that moment," he said, "that troops of the United States and our allies were crossing thechannel in another and greater operation which has come to pass with success thus far."

The President, during his ter and son-in-law, Mrs. John with his Secretary, Stephen Early, Mrs. Roosevelt, and their daughbroadcast prayer, was closeted Boettiger and Major Boettiger.

He said many had urged that he call the nation into a single day of special prayer but observed that "because the road is long and the desire is great, I ask that our people devote themselves in a continuance of prayer."

angle of about 45 degrees well ahead of our ship. For every one of those colored lights there are four bullets you can't see.

Bullets Like a Hail Storm

Just then we zipped through a fusillade like a train passing switch signals. It sounded as if the plane had run into a hailstorm and somebody was trying to cut it in two with a meat saw.

I drew my neck into my flak suit until my tin hat just balanced on my shoulders. All of a sudden the plane lurched forward with a jerk and I looked back in time to see the glider pilot's rope go limp. He touched loose—soared upward a moment, then banked and coasted down gracefully.

On both sides 20-millimeter shells were coming up now—beating a tatoo that rose above the roar of the engines.

It was easy to tell by the increased pitch of the engines that we were going places—fast.

I looked back at multi-colored tracers still criss-crossing the path of the plane which followed us. Almost supernaturally they seemed to plough through and away to the left a big rocket shell was wandering across the sky. It didn't seem to be aimed at anything particularly. It was a far piece away and thus pretty to watch.

The racket and display stopped abruptly and the crew chief pointed down. Waterfill came back to see if Sgt. Dennis Halpeska, crew chief from Victoria, Texas, and I were okay. We were.

Halpeska sheepishly picked up a loaded tommy-gun which had been sliding around on the floor between us. He had intended to poke it out the door and empty it at the Germans.

"I plumb forgot about it," he grinned.

G.O.P. TRIUMPHS IN NEW YORK ELECTION

By The Associated Press

Republicans chalked today as a feather in their campaign hat a 14,269-to-10,564 victory in a New York City congressional district that has gone Democratic for 25 years.

The victory was scored by Ellsworth B. Buck over Thomas V. Cantwell, Democrat with American Labor party support, in a special election yesterday to fill the seat of the late Rep. James A. O'Leary, Democrat who carried the district (New York's 11th) by 9,000 votes in 1942.

The Democratic tradition was continued in New York's fourth district, in Brooklyn, where in another special election John J. Rooney, Democrat backed by the American Labor party, won over Republican William G. Nolan on an unofficial count of 4,860 to 1,850.

Because of New York's heavy electoral vote, both races had attracted national interest.

In Washington, a group of Republican representatives came forward with a proposal that their vice presidential candidate be Rep. Everett Dirksen of Illinois, who has been a candidate for the top place on the ticket.

Several suggested at a testimonial dinner last night that Dirksen run with Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

Meanwhile, with Roosevelt administration supporters and antis battling for control, Mississippi Democrats meet today in state convention to pick a 20-vote slate of national delegates and to act on the choice of 12 Democratic electors.

The fourth term question bobbed up in congressional discussion of the effect on the campaign of the allied invasion of Europe, with some private speculation that President Roosevelt may want to retire if the signs point to victory in the period which elapses before the Democratic convention in Chicago July 19.

Democrats and Republicans agreed that swift success in the invasion, with the indications that Germany might collapse, probably would react to the benefit of the Republican presidential candidate while, they said, a stalemate might make the voters more reluctant to change the Democratic administration in a time of crisis.

Moscow Prepares To Open New Drive Against Germany

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, June 7—Russia is prepared to throw the great weight of the Red army into the growing offensive against Germany, Red Star, the Soviet army newspaper, said today.

"A strong, mounting attack of all the armies of the United Nations will be fully developed," Red Star said.

The great armies which at Teheran gave solemn promises not to make a separate peace are beginning to move forward for a meeting in Berlin, the newspaper added.

Muscovites got up early this morning to read the freshest invasion bulletins, despite one of the wildest nights of celebration during the war. Outside my window the radio is blaring forth the latest details, and the Soviet press, in an unprecedented display, turned over whole pages to the momentous military operations Russia had long awaited.

All newspapers published a picture of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the supreme commander of the Allied expeditionary force.

There were parties celebrating the invasion all over the city last night, with singing in the streets a part of the gayety. The Russians love occasions and this was one they had been awaiting for months.

Many toasts were lifted to the Americans and the British and particularly to Gen. Eisenhower, who seems to have fired the imagination of the people.

War Bond Drive Preparations Spurred by Invasion News

Workers Redouble Efforts for Big Marion County Campaign To Get Under Way Monday.

Yesterday's invasion headlines brought Marion county's Fifth War Loan campaign organization up to white-heat pitch today, anxious to step up home-front activity to the limit to back the big attack in Europe.

The invasion came in the midst of a series of pre-drive conferences among the various divisions of workers. Two of the meetings were held Monday, the payroll sav...s were given under the direction of Harold J. Grigsby ... meeting in the afternoon at War Bond headquarters on North State street, and the Civilian Defense residential campaign heads meeting Monday night. Last night, the block leaders headed by R. C. Snare, charged with covering the downtown business area, held their meeting to complete campaign plans.

Meanwhile, the stage is being set in small group meetings throughout the county for the rural phase of the work under the directions of A. J. Louden...slager, rural chairman. Along with those will be a series of ward and precinct meetings in Marion to round out details of the residential drive.

All of these preparations are pointed toward the big kick-off rally next Monday night in The Star auditorium at which hundreds of workers will hear a brief, fast-moving program that will formally raise the curtain on the big drive.

Herman J. Sheedy of Cleveland, chairman of a 26-county area of the War Finance committee that embraces Marion county, spoke at both of the Monday meetings, and he voiced his pleasure over the extensive preparations Marion county's committee has made to contact every person in the county with a request to buy extra war bonds.

Surveys after former drives have shown that only about half of the people have been contacted, he declared. He said this percentage varied from county to county, but even if workers contacted 8 out of 10 of their prospects, on the average, there would be 20 per cent not reached by the drive. "That's why we're asking all of you to do a 100 per cent job in the Fifth War Loan," he said. "We want to reach everybody—and since Marion county's quota is 18.6 per cent higher than in the Fourth War Loan, it will be necessary to see everyone to put the drive over the top."

Mr. Sheedy pointed out some possible dangers in the Fifth War Loan and urged workers and prospects alike to be on guard against them.

One is the possible feeling that, after four drives and bond purchasing in between drives, people may get the idea they have done their share. "My answer to that feeling on the part of any worker or prospect is that the boys in service haven't done their part, even though they may have served, one, two or three years, suffered wounds and hardships. Their job isn't done until this war is over—and neither is ours."

Another danger lies in the workers feeling they know all about the campaign, and that the prospect does too. "Up to this time, we've been able to put our drives over the top by merely getting the bonds that people are all ready to buy when we call on them," he said. "This time, to meet increased goals, we're going to have to be more than solicitors—we're going to have to do some selling."

He urged the workers not to hesitate to ask everyone to buy extra bonds—and an extra one besides that. "You're not asking them to give their money to support this war—they'll not only get their money back but a high rate of interest, too. Financially supporting the war on this basis is the least that the civilian population can do to help the war, even if it means some curtailment in their living expenses for a few weeks.

INVASION

ing forces streaming inland, the bulletin said.

The weather, a source of anxiety for allied officers, has shown a slight improvement, but landings still are difficult for the troops.

The Germans still spoke of the Caen area, nine miles up the Orne river from the coast, as a battle site, but there was no official word beyond Prime Minister Churchill's statement yesterday that allied troops were fighting in the streets of that old Gothic town.

(Allied tanks are moving up to Caen, BBC said in a broadcast heard by the Blue network.)

German broadcasts also said fierce counterattacks had been hurled against the allies east of Cherbourg, apparently a major allied objective, 65 miles northwest of Caen.

"No further attempt at interference with our sea-borne landing was made by enemy naval forces," the bulletin said.

"These coastal batteries still in action are being bombarded by allied warships."

Most of the communique was devoted to the tremendous aerial assistance being given the allied ground troops.

Nazi Planes Scarce

While noting increased enemy air operations, there still was no sign that Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering had begun to risk his weaker sky arm with big-scale attacks.

"Enemy air activity included an attack on our beach forces," the bulletin said. "This proved abortive and four of a formation of 12 Junkers 88's were destroyed."

Thousands of allied planes swept over the continental beaches again today. The communique announced a total of more than 13,000 sorties had been flown up to dawn.

The Germans reported vigorous fighting over a broad front and one Nazi broadcast suggested new allied landings north of Le Havre.

But supreme headquarters flatly declined to give any details of the land fighting on the grounds the Germans were fishing for information.

Staff officers at this morning's conference here stated there had been "heavy landing fighting on many beaches," but that most of these beaches now were out of "direct" fire.

Berlin radio said strong Nazi bomber formations had attacked allied warships and landing craft just after midnight off the coast north of Le Havre. This was the area in which the Germans first erroneously announced allied landings early Tuesday, later explaining that "dummy parachutists" had been dropped there.

Nazis Say Force Held Back

Details of the German aerial strike, the first of any consequence yet reported by the Germans, "are purposely kept back as yet, but results were good," the German Transocean agency said.

Le Havre, 80 miles across the channel from the English coast, and France's second seaport, already is threatened by allied troops attacking south of it on the lower side of the Seine estuary, Berlin has indicated.

There was no immediate allied confirmation of new landings, nor any official word here yet on the extent of the penetrations into the Normandy peninsula, aside from yesterday's statement by Prime Minister Churchill that allied troops had begun street fighting in Caen, 9 miles inland on the Orne river.

Allied troops already have cleared Norman beaches of shell-dazed axis coast defense units and are pushing on inland with the apparent objective of seizing the peninsula with its prize port of Cherbourg on the tip, returning airmen said.

Engineers were using their bulldozers, landed in the first hours of D-day, to hack out landing strips for succeeding waves of reinforcements which Berlin said hit the beaches during the night after a 100-mile trip across the channel.

There are more than 1,150 War Department theaters in 613 Army posts.

B'nai B'rith Lodge Honors Jerry Passen

Members of Marion Lodge No. 864, B'nai B'rith, entertained with a dinner Tuesday night at Hotel Harding in honor of Jerry Passen of Youngstown, formerly of Marion. Mr. Passen, who is manager of Kline's store in Youngstown, and also supervisor of the Marion store, was presented gifts from the lodge and also the Congregation of Israel Sunday school. Max Birnbaum presented the gift from the lodge and Dr. M. C. Smally from the children of the Sunday school. The evening was spent socially and at 10 o'clock the group paused to join in the prayer offered by President Roosevelt.

METER YIELD SETS RECORD

Meter collections soared over the $600 mark last week for the first time since the meters were installed in 1940, Elmer Shaw, city auditor, announced today. Collections for the week ending May 31 reached $605.05. Receipts for the previous week totaled $528.20. The highest amount received from the meters previously was $580 collected for the week ending Dec. 15, 1943.

JAP TROOPS DRIVE INTO CHANGSHA

By The Associated Press

Japanese troops have hammered into the outskirts of Changsha, vital Hankow-Canton railway city in China's central Hunan province, Chungking reported today.

The Japanese closed the final 22-mile gap to the provincial capital against Chinese resistance as fierce as that being put up by Japanese on Biak island where American invasion troops were edging toward strongholds within bomber range of the Philippines.

In China's Yunnan province, however, Chinese troops knifing along the Salween front drove the Japanese from Chiaotou and reached Changtao and Waisen.

Americans on Biak extended one column within a mile and one-half of Mokmer airdrome, stubbornly defended prize on the largest island of the Schouten group of Dutch New Guinea. Yank infantrymen were pushing along inland ridges from which the Japanese were dislodged after throwing back the first American drive.

Southwest Pacific allied airmen destroyed two coastal vessels off the big Japanese Dutch New Guinea base of Manokwari.

American planes from the central Pacific continued their methodical blasting of isolated Japanese bases in the Marshall islands and hit Truk and other Caroline island bases in attacks last week-end, Nauri, west of the American-held Gilberts also was attacked.

Little Grand Circuit Meeting Inaugurated Tomorrow

$1,000 Marion Star Stake Will Feature Opening Program.

By CHARLES ELLIOTT
Star Sports Editor

MARION COUNTY'S half-mile fairground race track, about which local history reaches back into the last century, is expected to be bulging with upwards of 5,000 turf devotees tomorrow night when the 15-night Little Grand Circuit meeting is inaugurated with a three-race card, featured by the $1,000 Star on Star 2:14 trot.

Near-capacity crowds are anticipated for every night of the meeting, weather permitting. The year's Marion Circuit program, which harness racing officials here and elsewhere aver will be one of the biggest and most successful ever staged at the county fairground, will run through Saturday night, June 24.

Post time for the first race tomorrow night will be 8:15. That will be the starting time for all post of the meeting.

The meeting, as in past years, is being staged for the benefit of the women's board of the Marion City hospital. Proceeds from the race, will be used by the board to purchase new equipment for the hospital.

Blocks of tickets for the races have been placed on sale at several downtown establishments by members of the women's board. These places include Markert and Lewis Clothing Store on East Center street, Hotel Harding, Hotel Marion and National City Bank. Tickets, of course, may also be purchased at the gate tomorrow night or any night during the meeting.

The Opening Card

The man most responsible for the success enjoyed by harness racing locally in the past few years—Frank Foster—states the initial card on tap for tomorrow night is "as good an opening card as Marion has ever had." The secretary of the Marion trotting association and ringmaster of this year's meet also doesn't tone down the optimistic note when commenting on the 1944 program as a whole. "It will be the best Marion has ever had. We have one of the best lots of horses ever gathered for a meeting on a half-mile track," Foster said.

And Foster isn't kidding when he says there is a great bunch of 'hosses here. Volo Song, Hambletonian winner last year, Yankee Maid and Eva's Boy, two top favorites for this year's Hambletonian are only three of the many headliners entered in the meet. The big-name drivers will be here too to guide the big-name horses to victory. Some of the better known drivers are Sep Palin, Vic Fleming, Eddie Havens, Wayne "Curley" Smart, Harry Short, Earl Rousch, Bob Plaxico, Harry Fitzpatrick, Hugh Bell of Marion and Gabe Cartnell.

Star Stake Entries

Between 12 and 14 horses, including some top starters, are expected to be nominated for the three-heat Marion Star trot on tomorrow's opening card. Purse for this closed stake is $1,000. Just how many horses will be entered in the other two races, the $300 12 trot and $300 18 pace, it has not yet been determined. Complete and final entry data for the first night of the meet probably won't be known until Thursday morning, when declarations are made to race officials.

Everything's in readiness for the opening card, Foster said enthusiastically this morning. The track, a half-mile fairground track said to be in the best condition ever, having already been "approved" by many top drivers, who have been working out the past few days. The track was watered last night and is being tempered at regular intervals.

Repair work has been completed on the fairgrounds grandstand. The lighting plant in both the grandstand and over the track has been installed. An elaborate loud speaker system which serves not only the fans but horsemen and trainers in the barns, has been set up. The photo finish booth is all set to aid the judges in calling the close ones. Henry Hagler of Xenia is in charge of the photo finish which was used for the first time last year in the Little Grand Circuit meeting.

George Rezeman of Columbus is in charge of the mutuel betting booths for this year's meet. He will be assisted by a corps of approximately 15 workers under the grandstand. Ray Hennessey of Bellefontaine will serve as chief programmer.

Track Officials

As usual, Foster has secured a group of top-rate track officials for this year's meet. Veteran Steve Phillips will again be starting judge and Joe McGraw will act as presiding judge. He will be assisted by Wayne Groves as associate judge. Frank Reilly of Richwood will be one of the timers. The concession stand will be operated by the Y'S Men's Service club of Marion.

With the arrival of two prominent stables yesterday and today, the county fairground barns are filled for the meeting. Any more horses that come for the races will have to be quartered in the Delaware county fairgrounds. Sep Palin of Indianapolis brought his stable of 16 head to the fairgrounds late Tuesday afternoon. The Harry Short stable of Washington, C. H., was checked in this morning. Approximately 300 horses will take part in Marion meet. About 225 of these will be quartered here and the rest at Delaware.

Six Games on Deck For Association Tonight

By The Associated Press

The American Association, after a day of inactivity in deference to D-Day, resumes business tonight with a six-game card featuring a twin bill at Milwaukee between the league-leading Brewers and the restless Louisville Colonels.

A double fare also will be served at St. Paul between Toledo and the Saints, while in single encounters second-spot Columbus trailing the Brewers by six and a half games, plays at Minneapolis and Kansas City is host to Indianapolis.

Louisville invades Milwaukee with the dual design of cracking an eight-game winning streak of the Brewers and vaulting the shut game and a half gap separating the fourth-place Colonels from the runner-up berth.

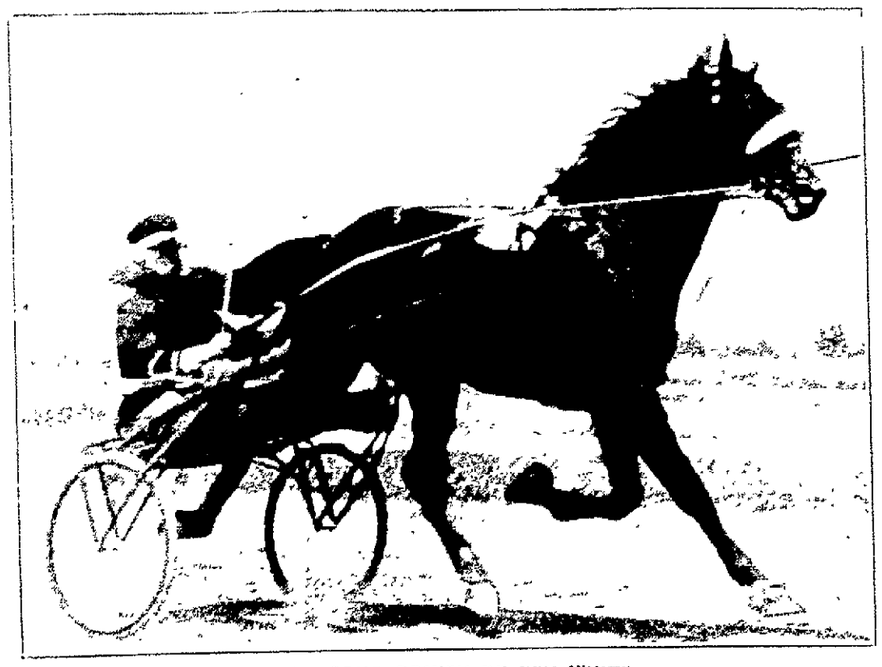
Hambletonian Winner in Little Grand Circuit Meet



VOLO SONG DRIVEN BY BEN WHITE

THE star starter of the star stable here for the 1944 Little Grand Circuit harness race meeting to start tomorrow night at the county fairgrounds is Volo Song, four-year-old trotter and winner of the 1943 Hambletonian race at Goshen, N. Y.

Volo Song, a big brown stallion, has been entered in the free-for-all trot in the Marion meeting and will be driven by Harry Fitzpatrick, highly-ranked horseman and trainer from Du Quoin, Ill.

Volo Song, sired by Volomite out of Even Song, is the highest priced horse in the 10-head stable of C. J. Baker of St. Charles, Ill. Estimated price of Volo Song is $70,000 or nearly half of the total value of the 10 Baker horses entered in the Marion session. The Baker stable entries are valued at approximately $120,000.

The Baker pride and joy has a brilliant record in two years of harness racing. As a two and three year old, Volo Song won practically all the important futurities. His crowning achievement came last August when, driven by the outstanding veteran Ben White, he captured the Hambletonian, harness racing's biggest race. He skirted around the Goshen track in the Hambletonian in 2.02½, which is his best time for a half mile.

Following his appearance in the Marion meeting, Volo Song will be taken to Cleveland, where he will compete in the Grand Circuit session at North Randall. This past winter, the Song was quartered in Florida and was shipped this spring to Du Quoin for training. Harry Fitzpatrick is in charge of the Song's training for the Marion meet and is assisted by Sam Merrell.

Ranking a close second to Volo Song in the star-studded Baker stable is King's Counsel, purchased by Mr. Baker from the "good doctor," Hugh M. Parshall, for a reported $20,000. King's Counsel, a two year old has two minutes for his best time for the half mile distance.

Another outstanding starter in the Baker stable is Algiers, now a two year old, which as a yearling brought $15,500. He was the highest priced yearling ever sold. Other Baker stable entries are Dr. Spencer, two year old, Kentucky Colonel, Direct Radium, Worthy General, Radiumite, a three year old and Hambletonian candidate, Lucky Mite, two year old, Joan Spencer, two year old owned by R. C. Alexander of Charleston, Ill. and Mighty Lucy owned by the Midwest Stable of Du Quoin.

Kentucky Colonel is a full brother of Greyhound, world's champion trotter. Direct Radium has done 2.05 over a half mile track and Worthy General has posted a 2.03 mark. Lucky Mite has carded 2.06 and Joan Spencer has 2:10 for her fastest time over a half mile course.

Cooler, Huber and Commercial Victors in Opening Industrial Loop Softball Tilts

The first installment in the 1944 Marion softball story was penned last night as the six-team Industrial league blew the cap off the season's schedule with three games, which drew good crowds and produced somewhat unexpected outcomes.

Results of the opening night's festivities were Universal Cooler 9, Marion Steam Shovel 2 at the Marion Metal Products diamond; Commercial Steel 8, Fairfield Engineering 7 at McKinley park and Huber 11, General Excavator 3 at Garfield park. Attendance at all three games was better than anticipated, softball officials said, the top throng being at the new Metal Products field at the end of Monroe street where some 300 fans were counted.

Of the three opening games, the Shovel-Cooler fracas might be said to border on the upset line. Pre-game dope had Shovel as the favorite to win the Industrial league crown this year because of its galaxy of local softball stars. But Cooler, the defending Industrial loop and city champion, fooled 'em and routed the Shovelmen by a seven run margin. Shovel errors were instrumental in the big margin of victory—five being committed by the losers and only one by Cooler.

Lloyd Hart was the winning pitcher for Cooler, setting Shovel down with eight hits. W. Walters did a good piece of hurling for Steam Shovel, giving up only three hits but his support was none too stable. Millington was the victorious chucker in the Commercial Steel-Fairfield game while Harold "Fat" Millisor got credit for the win against General Excavator, striking out five batters. Walters of the Shovel fanned the most batsmen, seven.

Big Cooler Inning

Big Cooler inning was the fourth in which four runs were totaled on no hits. Brown opened the inning by striking out. Hanovich was safe on an error and so was Northup. Swartz, Atkinson, Reid and McGraw. Thus were the four important runs racked up. One hit was registered by Cooler in each of the first three innings and none afterwards. Three runs were tallied in the fifth yet no bingles were made by Universal.

Commercial Steel, managed by Bob Scott, shoved across a run in the last of the sixth to defeat Fairfield Engineering. Irvin and Lehner banged out hits in this inning for the decisive tally. Fairfield scored three runs in the sixth to tie up the game after trailing for several innings. Hits were recorded by Fairfield players Donaugh, Bailey, Shoup and Ralph Weber in the sixth to add up the three runs.

Huber, which finished a close second in the Industrial league race last year after a season-long dogfight with Universal Cooler, had an easy time in disposing of General Excavator last night for win No. 1. The Huber win was more or less clean-cut, the Rollers rolling up 10 hits, while Excavator fielders committed only two errors. Two runs were made by Huber in the second stanza on hits by Myron Gibson, Eddington and Millisor. In the following frame, Armbruster, Anderson and Gibson lined hits and Richards got on via the error route for Huber as four runs were tabulated. Excavator got its three runs in the last two innings, one in the sixth on Mull's hit and a walk to Leffler and two in the seventh on hits by Thompson, Gruber and Carpenter and a walk issued to Binnert.

The lone home run of the three opening games was pounded out by Swartz. Universal Cooler catcher. Reid of Cooler, Myron Gibson and Sloat of Huber notched triples. Gibson slapped out two three-base knocks.

The second round of games in the Industrial league will be played next Tuesday night. The next city league to start its season will be the Commercial circuit with three games Thursday night. In these contests, Sandwich Bar will face DeMolay at Garfield park, Co. M of the Ohio State Guard will tangle with Isaly Dairy at Lincoln park and Waldo will meet Marion Metal Products on the McKinley park field.

Try Out School To Be Held in Red Bird Park

Marion and vicinity boys are invited to attend the annual baseball try out camp conducted by the Columbus Red Birds of the American Association at Red Bird stadium June 12, 13 and 14. Registration for the camp will be held at the stadium at 9 a. m. next Monday, June 12.

The camp is open to all boys 16 years of age or older who are not members of American Legion baseball teams. Those boys who play or have played Legion ball are not eligible for the try out camp, the Red Bird management stated.

The camp is in charge of Walter Shannon of the St. Louis Cardinal scouting staff. He will be assisted by several other Card scouts. Those candidates who are successful will be signed to a contract with some club of the Cardinal farm chain. Boys who attend the camp are requested to bring their own uniforms, shoes and gloves. Any inquiries regarding the camp should be forwarded to Red Bird stadium in Columbus.

Tag Team Match Carded for Armory Thursday

A tag team match, which will pit the colored combination of Rufus Jones of New York City and the Black Panther against the duo of Martino Angelo and Irish Bill McGee, will feature the weekly wrestling card at the Armory on West Church street Thursday night, Promoter Les Fishbaugh announced today.

A one-hour match will open the card at 8:30. In this contest, Steve Nenoff will meet Earl Malone. Two falls out of three will win the match.

One German well in the Heide oil field is more than two miles down, reputedly the deepest in Europe.

Byron Nelson Seeking Revenge in Golf Tilt

PHILADELPHIA, June 7—Byron Nelson and Ed Lowery sought revenge today against Harold (Jug) McSpaden and J. Wood Platt as 80 pairs made ready to compete in the pro-amateur midweek specialty of the $17,500 war bond invitation tournament.

Nelson, from Toledo Inverness Country club and Lowery were roundly trimmed by the Philadelphia duo in Monday's competition—McSpaden shooting a 67, four under par for the Frankford-Torresdale course.

WESLEYAN TRIUMPHS, 13-7

GRANVILLE, O., June 7—Ohio Wesleyan scored six runs in the 11th inning yesterday to defeat Denison university 13 to 7.

ZANESVILLE DROPPED TO FIFTH IN LEAGUE

Principal effect the two Ohio State league games played last night had on loop standings was the drooping of Zanesville to fifth place and the narrowing of Newark's first place lead to two and a half games. Springfield's 7 to 6 victory over Zanesville at Zanesville last night pulls the Giants up to fourth place, a half game ahead of Jack Knight's Zanesville Dodgers. Middletown's 6 to 2 win over Marion leaves the Red Sox of Red Barnes two games and a half behind Newark. Newark was idle in league competition last night but played an exhibition game with the Cleveland Indians. Cleveland won handily, 11 to 3.

Line score the Springfield-Zanesville game last night follows:

PIRATES AND WHITE SOX CAPTURE MANY GAMES BY ONE RUN

118 of 341 Major League Contests Decided by Single Tally Margin.

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

[illegible] one-run games means a great deal to the Pirates and the Chicago White Sox [illegible] of the league. Each has won 18 of 341 games played [illegible] 118 have been decided by a single run.

Clarke Field's Pirates have the best record for pulling through one-run affairs, winning eight of 11 for a .727 percentage far above the Cincinnati Reds who lead next by losing 10 of 18. Brooklyn and Chicago have won at least as many close ones as they've lost.

Strangely enough the St. Louis Cardinals have grabbed out four of nine close fits, but lead the league by four games, indicating they don't often make it close. The New York Giants have the poorest record, winning but six of 15.

Just as doping the American league race is strictly a job to do with a blindfold and a nat pin, separating the best "clutch" teams calls for a decimal point expert. The bare fact that the league standings show only five and a half games from top to bottom indicates there is no standout club.

The White Sox have the edge in one run games by taking seven of 11, but Detroit with 10 of 16 is close behind. Cleveland has been hard pressed to get an even break in 12 starts. Washington has had the worst luck in the close games, losing 10 of 15.

Indians Have Easy Time with Newark

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, June 7 — The Cleveland Indians continue their three-day major league rest today before journeying to St. Louis for a four-game series with the Browns.

Manager Lou Boudreau tried several novel combinations yesterday while the Tribe was defeating Newark of the Ohio State league 11 to 3 before wounded veterans at Fletcher General hospital, Cambridge, O.

Al Smith, veteran Indian hurler who won 17 and lost seven games last year, went in at first base late in the game, and Tribe pitchers Steve Gromek and Ed Klieman took over center field and third base assignments, respectively. Smitty made two putouts in his new role.

Three rookies, Nat Kleine, Paul Calvert and Ray Poat, limited Newark to six hits while team mates collected 16 safeties from five state league hurlers. Boudreau hit a home run on the first ball pitched in the first inning.

"TAG TEAM MATCH, THURSDAY"

Those two colored stars, Rufus Jones and the Black Panther return Thursday night to the Marion Armory to team up against Martino Angelo and Irish McGee in what promises to be one of the best tag team matches ever held at the local arena. This type of match has proved very popular with the local fans and with the above named grapplers on it the Armory should rival last week's crowd.

A very good one hour opening match between Steve Nenoff, the mustached Bulgarian and Earl Malone will start the fireworks at 8:30. Both matches the best two out of three falls. For advance layaways call Markert & Lewis Cigar Store.—Adv.

Youths Arrested After Automobile Collision

Henry Middleton, 18, of 777 East Mark street and Charles R. Hattery, 18, of 224 Short street were arrested by city police at 10 last night and charged with driving without operators' licenses. The arrests were made following a collision with a car driven by Mrs. Myrtle Pelk of 620 Polk street. Mrs. Pelk and her nine-year-old daughter, Bonnie Jean, suffered cuts on the face and other abrasions and were taken to City hospital in the police cruiser where they were treated and released.

Both cars were damaged considerably and taken to the McDaniel garage. Reports show the collision occurred at Fairground and Greenwood streets. The young men had stopped just west of Greenwood to change drivers. When they started up, Mrs. Pelk told police she was forced to veer to the side to avoid a head-on collision. The Pelk car was struck at the rear and knocked into trees bordering the street.

Piles Are Never 'Mild'

DANGER IN NEGLECT

No one should ever think of piles (hemorrhoids) as a "mild" disorder.

Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formations without tendency to heal themselves. Instead, they are likely, if neglected, to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.

Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting, predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in the back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its run-down tired feeling, and general nervous irritability.

Removal of piles is the only permanent relief. This can be done without knife, drugs or loss of time from work.

Marion Residents Help Set D-Day Blood Donor Record

Marion helped set a new blood donor record for the Columbus Blood Donor Center on D-Day, The Associated Press reported.

Director John F. Rees of the center reported a record total of 997 pints of blood were collected yesterday on D-Day in Columbus and by two mobile units in Marion and Findlay.

The total 881 pints collected at Columbus more than doubled the amount on any previous single day since the center opened Dec. 1, 1942, Rees said. The mobile units collected 416 pints.

The Marion unit collected 199 pints on D-Day, a substantial increase from Monday's total of 155. Two hundred and twenty-seven persons were donors yesterday. On Monday, 207 persons registered but 46 were rejected because of cold or other circumstances.

A new plan put into effect for the first time by an order from national Red Cross headquarters was responsible for some of the rejections. The new plan calls for a more scientific method of testing the hemoglobin content of the donor's blood, and has resulted in a greater number of rejections in all cities where the plan has been in effect, it was explained.

Today employes of the Marion-Reserve Power Co. and the Delisk Steel Corp. made up the roster of 200 donors.

Dr. Arthur Lizzi of the U. S. Army and the following registered nurses from the Columbus Red Cross Blood Donor Unit are in charge of the center during the three days: Mrs. Helen Brigel, Mrs. Ethel Rose, Mrs. Ruth Marsh, Miss Phyllis Miller, Miss Judy [illegible], Miss Kitty O'Brien and Mrs. Thompson. Miss Ann Pettit, social secretary, accompanied the unit here. Local nurses assisted on the two days include Mrs. Mosier, Covington, Mrs. Clara [illegible], Mrs. Franklin Perkins, Mrs. Mary Brown and Miss Teresa Mahoney.

SPORTSMEN TO LIST PROJECTS

Post-War Expansion of Conservation Activities Is Planned by State.

An increase of 150 new members since the last meeting was reported when the Marion County Fish and Game association met Tuesday night at the Eagles' hall. W. L. White is chairman of the membership drive now in progress. The club hopes to reach a membership of 1,000 by fall. Total enrollment now is 486.

Legal entanglements over a site thought favorable for a club grounds in the county have slowed procedure, but meetings will be held monthly throughout the summer in order that matters pertaining to the club site may be disposed of as they arise.

To Study Projects

O. H. Nemeyer, Marion county game protector, announced that the state has made public a plan for wide expansion of the conservation program after the war and has asked groups in counties to file applications for wanted projects now in order that a definite program may be planned for completion when the manpower shortage is eased. A dam near Caledonia which was damaged some time ago has never been repaired, Mr. Nemeyer said. Tentative suggestions for a project for Marion county include plans for a headwater lake and similar projects. The association is open to suggestions from interested persons or groups. John Jolley was put in charge of the application and suggestions may be sent to him or to Harold Magers, secretary of the association.

Mr. White, who recently attended a district meeting of conservation committees including seven central Ohio counties held in Columbus, reported that few changes have been made in hunting laws.

Restocking Plans

Mr. Magers was appointed by the club to investigate possibilities of purchasing some sort of game to replenish stocks which were depleted by foxes last winter. Funds for this project will be taken from proceeds made on fox hunts conducted throughout the county during cold weather months. It has been reported that pheasants and other game are becoming particularly difficult to obtain. Mr. Magers said, and other plans may have to be made in restocking the fields.

Use and construction of the bow and arrow were explained by Charles Howard. Mr. Howard, whose hobby is making bows and arrows, talked on best woods for [illegible] in the weapons, and told of their use by modern hunters. Mr. Howard's collection was on display.

Five Liberators Bag 12 Zeros in Bitter Pacific Engagement

By MURLIN SPENCER
AP War Correspondent

An advanced U. S. Liberator base somewhere in Australia—Weary, war-tried American airmen call it the most vicious sky battle ever fought over the western sector of the Southwest Pacific front.

And the score shows that the Yanks, odds against them, won the argument. They shot down a dozen of the 20 Japanese zeros which challenged the flight of five big American Liberators.

The men at this base agree new names were added to America's long hero list during 56 minutes of intense action over the placid Arafura sea.

Lt. Robert M. Dunseth, Los Angeles, Calif., fought off 12 Zeros at one time when they pounced on his plane after two bullet-damaged engines had conked out. Sgt. W. R. Miller, the nose gunner, from Dallas, Tex., blasted two enemy fighters out of the air before his life was ended by a cannon shell.

Fights Despite Wounds

Staff Sgt. Edward Chmura, Newark, N. J., was hit in the legs by three Japanese bullets but stayed with his guns.

The Liberator men operating out of this remote, far northern base expect trouble when they go on raids. They range too far for fighter escorts as they wage unceasing war on one of the most stubbornly defended areas in Japan's outer defenses.

This bombing strike in the closing days of April was aimed at Noemfoor island in Northwestern New Guinea. The bombs had been laid when the 20 Zeros roared in at noon. The Japanese were eager, skillful and daring.

From the minute Sergeant Miller spotted the Zeros, high and straight ahead, the Liberators battled in tight formation.

Technical Sgt. Donald R. Young, Peakville, N. Y., upper turret gunner, sent one Zero down in flames, and Lt. Edward Edwardson, bombardier, Hillside, N. J., bagged another from in front. Then when Miller got his two, both flamers, as they came at his nose turret, the Japanese decided this wasn't a lame duck after all.

One Liberator Gets Four

Four Japanese fell to the guns of the Liberator piloted by Lt. Joseph W. Daly, Monroe, N. Y. The crew of Lt. John Domenico, Audubon, N. J., bagged three, and a gunner for Lt. Merton H. Shaffer, Great Falls, Mont., got the twelfth.

Staff Sgt. Kenneth H. Sims Jr., Ousley, Ga., blazed away at a Zero that came toward his waist gun. The fighter was only 100 yards away when it burst into flames. A wing broke off and fluttered down to the sea.

Another Zero ran into an unbreakable thread of fire and exploded. The thread was stitched by the machine guns of Staff Sgt. John F. Fretchel, Chester, Pa.

With only eight of their planes remaining, the Japanese broke off the engagement. The Liberators, too, had taken a pounding.

Other officers and men who engaged in that "toughest air battle" included:

Lt. Charles W. Frayne, Springfield, O., navigator, and technical Sgt. Richard I. Grose, Coldwater, O., radio operator.

LOWER PRICED ISSUES ACTIVE

Buyers Look at Cost Tags To Keep Market Rolling Forward.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 7—Selective buying of lower priced automotive and civilian manufacturing shares rallied the stock market forward again today but for the most part the advance was in low gear.

A number of leading steel and oil issues managed to join the fractional rise although investment and speculative interests alike concentrated chiefly on those equities expected to benefit from peace, such as the air lines.

Dealings, slow from the start, were far under Tuesday's rate. Commitments generally were with brief pending further reports from the fighting in France.

Rails bore the brunt of selling and became more active toward the fourth hour, on the downside. Transport bonds, too, were under pressure.

Support was accorded Stewart-Warner, Crane Co., International Telephone, Packard, Studebaker, Willys-Overland, Chrysler, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, United Air Lines, American Air Lines, Pan American Airways, Standard Oil (N. J.), Houston Oil and General Electric.

Slipping at times were Santa Fe, New York Central, Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific, International Harvester, Deere and Anaconda.

Commodities moved unevenly.

WEAK UNDERTONE PERVADES MARKET

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 7—A weak undertone pervaded the grain market today with lower prices reflecting lack of demand for futures following yesterday's substantial short covering. Trading was quiet and attempted rallies encountered commission house selling.

In late trading wheat showed pronounced weakness with the deferred futures at new lows for the season. There was some mill buying near the middle of the session but when this demand was met selling increased and the recession continued. Favorable war news and beginning of the harvest of a big winter wheat crop were responsible for the bearish sentiment.

The rye market broke sharply under local pressure and commission house selling. Oats were down in sympathy with wheat.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

"As a prelude," Hugh began, while my poised pencil hovered above my notebook, "tell your father that Lee Chow and I have been successful in the mission on which we have been engaged for so long."

As I wrote down the words, I wondered, a bit resentfully, why my father never had spoken of Hugh to me during this last year of unexplained absence. He must have known the reason for the cessation of the registered postal cards Hugh had sent me wherever he changed his living abode—I had confided the secret of those postal cards to my father years before—yet he never had seen fit to enlighten me.

Possible Reason

Could it be, I conjectured with suddenly burning cheeks, that his paternal judgment thought it better for me to believe Hugh had ceased to have interest enough in me to keep on sending the postals—perhaps because of some new feminine interest in his life?

Hugh's voice, going on with his "prelude," jerked me out of my reverie.

"But," he went on, "it's going to take quite a bit of doing to straighten the thing now. You see the other fellows think all we have done has been for their benefit, and we have had to do some tall stalling to keep them from getting hold of the real thing, to make them think we were just waiting the chance to turn what we know over to them.

"Of one thing, I'm certain," he went on, "the men hunting us do not dream we're government agents. Their opinion of us is lower than that. They think we're double crossers, willing to sell the information we have collected to the highest bidder, and they are bound to be in at the kill; indeed, to be in before the kill, if possible.

Lucky Break

"The fact that one of the four who came to the house last night is an F.B.I. man, was the greatest of possible breaks," he said. "I told him just what I was planning, and he will be all set to put a monkey wrench into their plans whenever he can."

He stopped and waited until my pencil caught up with his last words.

"The letter written in German," he went on, "which I asked you to give the guttural-voiced man, was planned with the advice of 'Mr. X.' In it, I said that I had been compelled to go to the city to collect the final bits of information I needed. I told them that I would send back to you a certain tiny package which you would deliver to them, if they first wrote to you, gave you a certain password, and received permission to come to the house.

Messenger Girl

"But you never will have to bother with that phase of the matter," he said. "You simply will be a messenger girl. Your father or I will be on hand to deal with anything that comes up."

I noticed that he omitted Lee Chow's name. But a look from under my eyelashes at the emaciated face of the old Chinese told me that he was too ill to be counted on for anything but advice. I had used the adjective "old" inadvertently. Although he looked as ancient as the eternal hills, yet I was sure that he was not much past middle age. Suffering and hardship, perhaps, and I shuddered — nay, probably — torture had made him old and virtually helpless long before his time.

"Now," Hugh said briskly, "will you read what you have written to yourself sufficiently so that you will forget nothing. Then we will go on to the vital part of this. I want you to put aside all this prelude in one compartment of your brain, and lock it off. Then you will be able to focus all your faculties upon what I am now going to tell you."

No Comment

I picked up my note book without comment, riffled its pages back to the beginning of my notes and read them through carefully twice. Then I turned to a fresh page, fastened the others back with a small rubber band, and looked up at Hugh.

"I am all ready," I said. "And I shall not forget any word of what I have just written."

It was not an idle boast. I knew my memory and what it had been trained to do. I dreaded the day when inevitably it would begin to fail me. Then I would know I was getting old and that my usefulness was waning.

But Hugh's comment was reassuring.

"I know you won't," he said with confidence. "Now here's the first of the important things: Before you leave here comes out unopened, but do not set in motion the collection of the contents of the little package you will receive later."

INSURANCE RULING REVERSED BY COURT

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 6—Overruling a decision that had stood for 75 years, the supreme court held yesterday that insurance is subject to the Sherman anti-trust act.

Justice Black wrote the court's 4-3 decision. Chief Justice Stone wrote a dissenting opinion in which Justice Frankfurter concurred. Justice Jackson also wrote an opinion in which he concurred in part. Justice Roberts and Reed took no part in the case.

The case specifically involved the 1905 state fire insurance companies, and 27 individuals connected with the Southeastern Underwriters Association in Florida, Alabama, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia.

Anti-trust charges brought by the justice department were dismissed by the federal district court at Atlanta on the ground that the supreme court had held for 75 years that the business of insurance was not commerce and, hence, the companies were not subject to the Sherman act, which prohibits combinations of companies which restrain interstate commerce.

Added interest was given the case by the fact that legislation is pending before congress to exempt insurance companies from the federal anti-trust legislation and to leave their regulation to the states.

Thirty-five states filed briefs urging the supreme court to hold that insurance was not commerce and not subject to federal regulation. To rule otherwise, it was contended, would destroy the "sovereignty of the states."

The southeastern companies were charged with a conspiracy to fix and maintain arbitrary and non-competitive rates and with a conspiracy to monopolize trade and commerce in fire insurance in the states affected.

They call it a covey of partridges; a nide of pheasants; a wisp of snipe; a flight of doves or swallows; a muster of peacocks; a siege of herons; a building of rooks; a brood of grouse and a slump of wildfowl.

YOUR HEALTH

BY LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Children's Skin Ills

THE SKIN OF the young is not subject to so many diseases as that of the adult. The young-ster has not yet been inducted into the mysteries of rouge and lip stick and nail polish and smearing cream and hair dye and lash curlers, as examples a good many forms of contact dermatitis, and such adult changes as psoriasis and herpes zoster and leukoplakia await it in the future.

Skin diseases in infancy and childhood come down pretty much to the contagious types, measles, scarlet fever, chickenpox, and infantile eczema and impetigo and tinea and scabies.

Infantile eczema begins a few months after birth and is really something both to see and to try to cure. The poor little baby's face and hands and large parts of the body are covered with weeping, itching, scaling eruption that naturally drives it irritable to the verge of delirium.

It is undoubtedly an allergy, but allergy to what is a mystery. The best guess is some kind of food, but it is hard to explain what. Nearly every case gets well spontaneously at about two years of age and since the diet is not abruptly changed at that age, and the baby eats about the same things it did when it had eczema the question arises "why." Perhaps the allergy develops an immunity to whatever food it was sensitive to.

In the treatment of infantile eczema the parents should be reconciled that rapid or sudden cure is not likely. The best that can be done is to keep the condition as well under control as possible and eliminate all extra sources of irritation. The clothing should be light, avoiding woolen, silk or rubber garments.

Soap and water must be used very infrequently if at all. Oatmeal baths are used. The skin must be mopped, not rubbed dry. Prevent scratching by elbow cuffs. Dressings of aluminum acetate diluted 1 to 16 with water are often grateful and if tolerated, tar or crude oil tar ointments are helpful. Generalized exposures to ultra-violet light three times a week have a tonic effect.

Don't Starve Child

It is impossible not to starve the child in an attempt to eliminate the offending foods. Milk, eggs and wheat are the common offenders, but it is hard to construct a dietary without them and it is more important that the subject's nutrition does not suffer than that some added allergic response flare up.

Impetigo, pus infection of the skin, is the commonest skin disease of infancy and childhood. The causative factor is the infant's predelection for handling all sorts of things, clean and dirty. Besides as a causative factor the infant's skin is delicate, an easy object of invasion for germs and it has not yet acquired the immunity that the adult skin gets in time. Impetigo arises suddenly with angry red pustular spots and blisters. While it usually involves the face it may occur anywhere.

In the treatment of impetigo the child should be isolated just as if it had a contagious disease which indeed it has. The crusts should be removed with warm water and soap. Sulfathiazole, or some form of sulfa drugs have been a godsend in the treatment of this troublesome and often serious offender.

Fungus infections in childhood are represented mostly by the tinea infestations of the scalp. They appear as areas of partial baldness with the rest of the hairs covered with scales and stubby and brittle. It is often contracted from cat and dog pets. In treatment the hair should be shaved. Applications of ointments or lotions containing salicylic acid or sulphur will usually rid off the parasite allowing the skin to heal, but in stubborn cases the X-ray may have to be called into use.

Scabies, or itch — infestation with the itch mite, is common in infancy and childhood. The scales appear mostly in the webs of the fingers or in the armpits, or in the buttocks. They itch intolerably. Sulphur ointment 5% usually results in a prompt cure.
